Biting cold and a brilliant sun fought for supremacy in Texas today, with the prospect that the sun would win out by Friday.

Reports from as far south as Port Arthur and as far northwest as Sweetwater were uniform—unusual cold, clear skies, and a brightly shining sun..

The mercury skidded to new low marks for the winter season in nearly all Texas cities, and in many cities the minimum around 8 o'clock this morning was the lowest in years. The mercury rose slowly later in the day as the sun's rays dissipated sub-freezing cold.

Cities reporting new low marks for the winter included Dallas, Sweetwater and Gainesville. It was the third coldest winter morning in the history of the Wichita Falls weather bureau, and the fifth coldest in Dallas weather annals.

In San Antonio, the minimum of 23 was within 2 degrees of the season's lowest, but the mercury rose to 29 during the morning. The

INSANITY HEARING FOR CONDEMNED MAN GRANTED THURSDAY

STAY OF EXECUTION ORDERED FOR E- V. ALLEN, ALLEGED BANK ROBBER

EASTLAND, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Judge Elzo Been of the district court today granted an application for an insanity hearing for E. V. Allen, under death sentence for bank robbery, and by injunction stayed his execution until after the insanity hearing, set for Feb. 10.

The application was granted to Maury Hughes, Allen's lawyer, employed for the condemned man by the American Civil Liberties Union. Hughes filed the application alleging Allen's insanity on his own "information and belief."

The injunction restrained the warden at the state penitentiary from carrying out the death sentence, which was to have been imposed after midnight tonight. Judge Been also telegraphed Governor Moody of his action.

Allen was convicted and sentenced to die for his part in the robbery of a bank at Carbon, Eastland county, Dec. 13, 1927. No shots were fired and no persons killed in the robbery. It was this fact which led those who became interested in his case to petition for a commutation of the death sentence, denied by Governor Moody.

The petition for commutation was said to have been signed by eleven of the twelve jurors who found him guilty.

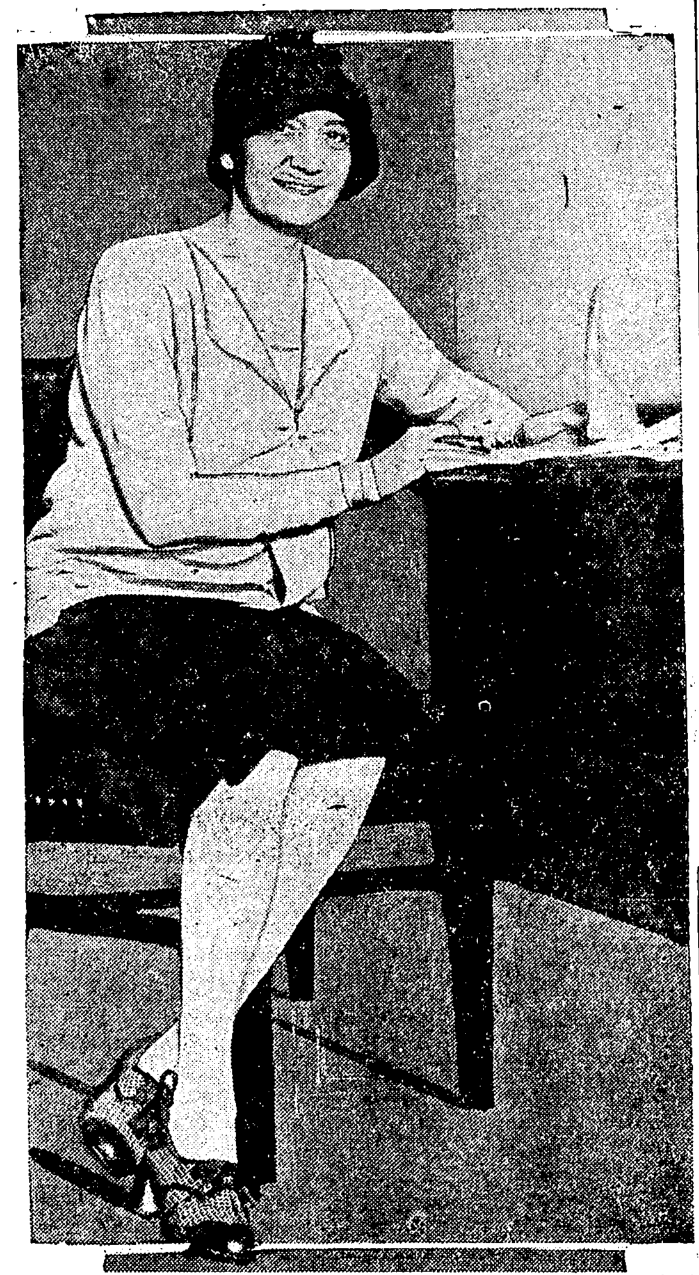
Blinding of 40 Children Cause Athens Furore

ATHENS, Greece, Jan. 16.—(AP)—The ministry of health today issued a statement that ten children had been blinded at the State Clinic in Kaisariane, apparently through the use of an injurious preparation instead of an eye wash. [illegible] was denied there were forty [illegible] as was reported in London. The ministry further announced a searching inquiry was in progress to ascertain whether carelessness on the part of the doctors was responsible.

LONDON, Jan. 16.—(AP)—A dispatch from Athens, Greece, to the London Daily Express today said that capital was in a furore after the blinding of 40 children by maladministration of drugs at a clinic at Kesarion.

The children had been taken to the clinic to have their sight tested. Attendants mistook a cauterizing fluid for a medicinal fluid and applied it to 40 of the children before the mistake was discovered. It is feared all are blinded permanently.

RAPS LEAGUE COURT



Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, congresswoman at-large from Illinois who aspires to the United States Senate, opened her campaign January 13, at Shelbyville, Ill., with a fiery speech opposing American adherence to the permanent court of international justice of the league of nations.

VICTORIA MEMBER EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OPPOSES LETTING ALLEGED BOLTERS ON TICKET

AUSTIN, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Declaring "loyalty is one of the rarest and most admirable virtues," Venable B. Proctor of Victoria, member of the state democratic executive committee, announced he would vote to "rigidly exclude" unfaithful democrats from the primary ballot when the committee meets soon.

"I shall favor permitting all persons to vote at the democratic primaries who will take the pledge prescribed by a majority vote of the executive committee," he said.

"My individual preference is that such pledge take about this form: 'I am a democrat, and in voting this ticket, pledge myself, without mental reservation or equivocation, to vote for, and loyally support, the nominees of this primary'."

The executive committee will meet soon to pass on the application of Senator Thomas B. Love of Dallas, candidate for governor, who voted for Hoover in 1928, for a place on the democratic primary ticket.

Love Threatens Court Action

NEW YORK, Jan. 16—(AP)—Thomas B. Love of Dallas, former democratic national committeeman for Texas, said here last night he would resort to court action should an attempt be made to keep his name off the democratic ticket in his race for governor.

"If the Texas democratic committee follows the example of the Alabama committee in refusing to allow Senator Heflin's name on the ticket by refusing to allow mine on the Texas ticket I shall take the case to court," Love said.

He said the Alabama committee's refusal to allow Heflin's name on the ticket because he bolted from the party in one election was just as "foolish as it would be if Wisconsin denied LaFollette a place on the ticket or Nebraska denied Norris a place on its ticket."

In the last presidential campaign Love supported Herbert Hoover.

Earthquake Rocks California; Little Damage Reported

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 16.—(AP)—The earthquake which shook a large section of Southern California late yesterday was found today to have registered more sharply in the inland mountain areas, although no appreciable damage was reported.

Two distinct quakes, at 4:25 and 4:35 p. m., were felt from the sea eastward to the Coachella Valley and from San Diego to the Mojave Desert.

Dr. Harry L. Wood, seismologist at Pasadena, said his instruments indcated there were three tremors, the first, very faint, at 3:25 p. m.

The epicenter of the quake, Dr. Wood estimates, was approximately 197 miles from Pasadena.

In Los Angeles the shocks swayed flagpoles in the business district and rocked buildings with a rolling movement.

Movie Actor in Real Life Hero Role Thursday

HOLLYWOOD. Jan. 16.—(AP)—Charles "Buddy' Rogers, motion picture actor, today was credited with having rescued two servants whom he found unconscious in a gas filled room in his home here yesterday.

Rogers found Edicio and Jesus Urequo, brothers, prostrate in the servants' quarters of his home and dragged them to safety. A gas heater had been left burning in the closed room, and the fumes had nearly asphyxiated the two. They are expected to recover.

CO-OPERATIVE PLAN FOR MARKETING OF LIVESTOCK URGED

MEMBER OF FEDERAL FARM BOARD ADVOCATES CONTROL MEASURES

DENVER, Colo., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Co-operative marketing through a national organization for effective control of livestock prices was advocated today by C. B. D. Denman, member of the federal farm board, at the annual meeting of the American National Livestock Association.

"It is not a high price that is so desirable," asid Mr. Denman, "but one that is dependable and stable, so that we can be assured of a profit when our sale is made, which sometimes is almost a year from the time we start our finishing operations. It is the wide fluctuations in the price that bring distress."

Mr. Denman told the association that stabilization of prices and sufficient tariff protection for the domestic markets would insure the future of the livestock division of agriculture. He defended the delay in incorporating livestock schedules in the tariff by saying that anything which affects the welfare of 120,000,000 people must have consideration.

PROCEDURE FOR AMERICAN GROUP STILL UNCERTAIN

HEAVY GALE WILL DELAY ARRIVAL OF PARTY IN ENGLAND UNTIL FRIDAY

S. S. GEORGE WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—(AP)—The American delegation to the London five power naval conference neared English shores today hopeful of achieving in full measure President Hoover's ideal of curbing sea armaments.

Despite difficulties known to be in its way, the delegation still hoped and shaped its calculations on the basis of a five-power treaty arising from their efforts.

It was recognized that to achieve that aim most careful procedure would be necessary, but Col. Henry L. Stimson, head of the delegation, and his colleagues were prepared fully to give most painstaking effort for a common agreement.

During the voyage the delegation has completed preparatory consultations in addition to finding time for rest and recreation. Today problems of the conference were thrust virtually aside while all members of the party occupied themselves in making ready to quit the ship.

Heavy weather upset the plans of Capt. A. B. Randall to berth his ship at Plymouth late tonight; it is now not expected to reach Plymouth until early Friday. The delegation will take a train immediately for London, arrving there about 2 p. m.

The Americans are arriving in England without having formulated definitely plans of procedure, but it was considered likely this would be discussed at the conference tomorrow of Col. Stimson and Premier MacDonald, as chairman of the conference the premier will be looked to for suggestions, although Col. Stimson is anxious to help in any way possible.

It is the American delegation's hope that as far as possible the negotiations may be directed specifically to consideration of changes in battleship provisons of the Washington treaty and what limitations can be placed on other categories. Members of the delegation have been unwilling to comment on the possibility that other elements, such as the French suggestion of Mediterranean security pacts, may become seriously involved with these purposes.

CONGRESS ENGAGED IN EFFORT TO MAKE ENFORCEMENT EASIER

BIRTHDAY OF AMERICA'S MOST DISCUSSED LAW FINDS FAMILIAR SETTING

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16. —(AP)—Prohibition's tenth birthday found the wet and dry issue a subject of controversy at the capitol with members discussing it on the house floor, the senate receiving a resolution asking repeal of the eighteenth amendment, and with Commissioner Doran of the prohibition bureau, in a formal statement, announcing "substantial progress" toward drying up America had been made.

In the house, Representative Oliver, democrat, New York, asserted that if a proposed realignment of enforcement agencies were carried out it would "smother the revolution no more effectively than a lace curtain will smother a fire in an oil well."

Senator Blaine, republican, Wisconsin, interrupted tariff discussion in the senate to put forward a demand to do away with the eighteenth amendment.

FLOOD WATERS OF TWO RIVERS BREAK THROUGH LEVEES

THOUSANDS OF ACRES FARM LAND FLOODED IN ARKANSAS AND MISSISSIPPI

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Rain swollen waterways broke their bounds today in two states in the lower Mississippi valley.

Smashing a gap in the levee between Lambert and Marks, Miss., water from Cold Water river spread over several thousand acres of farm land in Quitman county, and in Arkansas the St. Francis river overtopped its banks in Greene county, one and a half miles of the town of Bertig.

Approximately 9,000 acres of farm land were in the path of the water pouring through a gap which came in the wake of the overtopping of the St. Francis river embankment. Two-thirds of the area already was under about two feet of water from recent rains. A force of thirty men under the supervision of a United States levee inspector attempted to stop the flow by sacking operations.

SUSPECT TRIO BEING HELD IN ARIZONA OF COMMITTING CRIMES IN FIVE STATES

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Suspected of crimes in New Hampshire, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Texas and Arizona, the woman and two men captured near here Tuesday after gun battles with police of two counties were lined up today for further questioning.

Sheriff C. H. Wright announced he was convinced that the prisoners were Mrs. Irene Schroeder, Benwood, W. Va., W. Glenn Dague and Vernon Ackerman, ex-convict of Oklahoma.

Charges have been filed against the trio as a result of the abduction and shooting of an officer, Joe Chapman, and the shooting of Deputy Sheriff Lee Wright.

Mrs. Schroeder and Dague are wanted by Pennsylvania authorities in connection with the slaying of State Policeman Brady Paul at Newcastle, and in Toledo, Ohio, where they were charged with stealing an automobile. In addition, Sheriff Wright said, the trio is suspected of robbing a bank and slaying a patrolman at Coleman, Texas.

The man identified as Dague declared he was Alfred Winthrop and denied any knowledge of the shooting of Paul. The other man identified himself as Joe F. Wells of Texas. Mrs. Schroeder at first admitted her identity and then denied it.

The prisoners denied participating in the Texas holdup and shooting.

THERMOMETER GOES DOWN TO FOURTEEN WEDNESDAY NIGHT

A biting wind that blew from the north ran the temperature here down to 14 Wednesday night, the third coldest time of the year. On two other occasions the thermometer reached 9 and 12 degrees, on Saturday night and Sunday night following the big snow in December.

Although the temperature not as low as before the cold last night was the most bitter of the season, due to the strong wind.

A large number of people reported ice in their homes for the first time this winter.

No records were broken when the thermometer started climbing Thursday morning. At 8 o'clock the thermometer at the Sun office registered 16 and at 1 o'clock it had climbed to 26, still six degrees below freezing.

A continuation of the below freezing weather is predicted for tonight with slowly rising temperature Friday.

Texas Senator Hails Triumphant Tread Of Prohibition In Senate

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.— (AP) — The "triumphant tread" of prohibition was hailed in the senate today on its tenth anniversary in a birthday speech by Senator Sheppard, Democrat, Texas, co-outhor of the Eighteenth Amendment.

"Prohibition in the United States continues its triumphant tread," was the opening line of the Texan's prepared speech which marked the first dry discussion in the senate since President Hoover's program for prohibition enforcement re-organization went to congress.

"It is in the federal constitution, and it is there to remain," Sheppard asserted. "It is in the enforcement statutes of the nation, and it is there to stay. It is in the hearts and consciences and bank balances, the home comforts, the living facilities, the moral, educational and economic advantages of the American people, and in all of these it is forever planted."

Detailing the benefits he sees in the nation's dry law, the Texan asserted that "the decrease in the national death rate since the coming of federal prohibition has meant the saving of 2,000,000 lives in the ten years."

He insisted prohibition was being enforced "as well and as effectively as any other law against crime" and said this was demonstrated by most of the cases being brought against violators resulting in convictions.

Senator Sheppard attributed America's greatness to this ban on intoxicating liquors, and concluded that "the advantages that have come to the United States from prohibition are of such permanent and beneficent character as to justify existence beyond all question."

One additonal step toward enforcemnt was urged by the Texan —adoption of his proposal to make purchasers of liquor equally guilty with bootleggers.

"The moment it is made clear," he continued, "that purchasers are punishable, the number of buyers will rapidly dwindle. They will hesitate a long time before they will become law-breakers."

Sheppard characterized the buyers of intoxicating liquor as "the most dangerous character in our national life."

"Placing appetite above law and above the welfare of his fellowman," he added, "he supports as desperate and determined a class of lawbreakers as the police annals of any country have ever known. The very fact that the buyer is a person of position, wealth or prominence intensifies the harm that may follow his example, the danger of his conduct to society. Without him the traffic in illicit liquor would dsappear."

FIFTY-EIGHTH SESSION OF LEAGUE OF NATIONS COUNCIL ADJOURNED THURS. MORNING

GENEVA, Jan. 18.—(AP)—The fifty-eighth session of the Council of the League of Nations adjourned today, shortly after the delegates convened for the morning meeting. Almost everyone was in a hurry to attend the naval conference at London.

Accomplishments of the session were three:

Selection of a committee of eleven to draft changes in the covenant of the League of Nations to bring it into conformity with the Kellogg pact and ban aggressive warfare altogether.

Second: Voting of a conference on February 17 to consider a customs truce, a stage in the League's campaign to reduce restrictions to international trade.

Third: Agreement to appoint a special commission of three persons to determine rights and claims regarding the wailing wall of Jerusalem.

The council also summoned an international conference on buoyage and lighting coasts for next October at Lisbon on invitation of the Portuguese government.

August Zaleski, president of the council, in a closing address paid tribute to Woodrow Wilson and to Quinones Le Leon, who, he said, was the only member of the first league council who was a member of the one just ending its sittings.

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 16.—(AP)—The Mexican foreign office announced today that the consulate at Laredo, Texas, closed for some weeks, will be reopened tomorrow. The staff is being reassembled from El Paso, San Antonio and other points.

SENATE REFUSES TO CONCUR IN PROPOSAL BOOST IMPORT DUTY

REPUBLICAN PROPOSAL REJECTED WITH TEN VOTES MARGIN THURSDAY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16. —(AP)—By a margin of ten votes, the senate today rejected the republican proposal for an increase in the sugar tariff.

The amendment of Senator Harrison, democrat, Mississippi, forcing the retention in the tarif measure of the existing rate of 1.76 cents a pound on Cuban sugar was adopted, 48 to 38.

Eighteen republicans, including some old guard regulars from the east, deserted the finance committee proposal for a rate of 2.20 cents a pound on Cuban importations.

The house voted a rate of 2.40 cents a pound on sugar and the difference between the senate's demand for no increase, and this advance must be threshed out in conference.

MOODY WILL ASK LEGISLATURE TO INSPECT PRISONS

FEELS SURE SOLONS WILL HAVE BETTER IDEA NECESSITY FOR LEGISLATION

AUSTIN, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Governor Moody will ask the legislature to "go in a body" to inspect the state prison properties at Huntsville and the South Texas farms, when it meets in special session beginning Monday, he announced today.

"As a rule I am against junketing trips, but were the legislature to inspect present prison conditions, I am sure the membership would have a better understanding and better appreciation of the urgency and imperative need of doing something to correct the present situation," he said.

"I shall suggest to the legislature when it convenes Monday that it go in a body to inspect the walls at Huntsville and the farms in South Texas."

The governor is at work on his message to the legislature, which has been called to consider prison centralization, relocation and industrialization, and changes in laws governing the collection of fees by county officers.

He said "all this talk" about the legislature not havng power to appropriate money beyond its term was "claptrap" and those dealing in it were "only borrowng trouble for themselves."

ROCKY MOUNTAIN BLIZZARD CLAIMS SIX MORE LIVES

minmum reported today was zero at Amarillo. Sweetwater reported 3 above zero, while reports from other cities included:

Corsicana, 14; Wichita Falls, 7; Sherman, 8; Dallas, 11; Fort Worth, 11; Gainesville, 9; Big Spring, 11; Mexia, 14; Waco, 15; Abilene, 9; Houston, 24; Port Arthur, 30; Austin, 18.

DENVER, Colo., Jan. 16. —(AP)— Rhe Rocky mountain west still shivered today under the sting of the most protracted cold wave since 1924. Six deaths were caused indirectly yesterday by the bitter cold.

Temperatures that have been well below the freezing mark in Denver for nine days ventured to new low levels with a minimum of 7 below zero today. Throughout Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico and Kansas the cold held tenaciously.

Five Indians of the same family perished in flames that destroyed their cabin on the Crow reservation south of Billings, Mont. It was believed the fire was caused by an overheated stove.

At Pueblo, Colo., Mrs. Abram C. Ball died from a fractured skull incurred when she was struck by an automobile that skidded at an icy street intersection.

The lowest reported reading was 30 below at Lewistown, Montana.

Blocked by snow in the higher altitudes, travel in most of the mountain passes of Colorado and New Mexico was suspended.

Ice Chokes Rivers

CHICAGO, Jan. 16. —(AP)— The Mississippi valley was the land of freezing waters today.

Near zero temperatures choked rivers into vast mirrors of ice and slush and made misery more rampant among those driven from their homes in flooded regions.

Unseasonal mildness filled the valleys of Mississippi tributaries with melting snows; rivers ran wild beyond flood stages—but the freeze today halted a further rise.

Along the Wabash in Indiana conditions equalled those of 1913. In Vincennes, the waters encircled sections of the city. More than 500 families were driven from their homes when waters lapped the boulevard named for George Rogers Clark.

To the north, at Terre Haute and Clinton, damage was similar. In the former city, the Wabash was seven feet above flood stage. At Clinton, high water closed coal mines and cut off hundreds of families with closing or roads.

At Decker, ten miles from Vincennes, the Wabash burrowed itself through the levee and flooded thousands of acres.

Along the White river in Indiana conditions were practically the same. National guardsmen were called out to help have the White river bridge at Hazelton.

Flee Flooded Areas

None of the river towns reported loss of life. Early warning spread preparedness over the flooded areas, but boats were necessory to remove many residents.

Swirling into Illinois, the flood grasped the little Wabash, Kankaskia, Embarrass and Vermilion rivers. Near Danville, a levee across Lake Vermilion was damaged, while farther north, near Rankin and Hoopeston, backwash of the Wabash closed two highways.

At Shawneetown, the Ohio is expected to reach a crest of 45 feet the last of this week. Levees are in good condition, and there is no immediate danger.

At Ottawa, Ohio, near Cleveland, more than 200 people were safe toda yafter being removed from second story iwndows as the Blanchard river crept up the banks.

Missouri and Kentucky also came into the scope of the flood. In Southeast Misouri, near Poplar Bluff, highways in two places were three feet under water.

New Lows in Southwest.

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 16.—(AP)— Temperatures plumbed new depths in the Southwest today as the cold wave tightened its hold.

Sub-zero weather prevailed in Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma and many cities in Texas reported the coldest weather of the year.

A mark of 18 below zero was set at Almena, Kas., with 16 below at Norton. Temperatures in Kansas generally ranged from 3 below zero downward.

Enid, Okla., reported 4 below, with zero reached at Oklahoma City, Bartlesville and other points.

PROHIBITION'S TENTH ANNIVERSARY FINDS ENFORCEMENT CHIEF ISSUE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—(AP)— Ten years ago today the practice of resting a crooked arm on a polished bar became an unconstitutional gesture.

The eighteenth amendment went into effect at midnight January 16, 1920, after Nebraska had ratified it as the thirty-sixth state. Adding prohibition to the basic law, however, made little difference then, as the country had been under a wartime ban on liquor since the preceding July.

Prohibition, stretching its limbs as a 10-year-old, finds itself being being cuffed about strenuously, but with enforcement, rather than drinking, the target for controversy.

Many profess to see that 1930 will be as critical a year for the "great experiment" as any in its existence.

Outstanding in developments that followed rapidly as 1929 waned were:

The charge, taken directly to the White House by Senator Borah of Idaho, that governmental enforcement personnel is not efficient.

The sweeping study of dry law application by President Hoover's commission on law enforcement.

Certainly that prohibition will be a major legislative topic before congress this year.

A possible supreme court ruling on the move to make a liquor purchaser equally guilty with the seller.

Statement of Rear Admiral Frederick C. Billard, commandant of the coast guard, that amicable gestures will not be used in seeking to prevent liquor smuggling.

Organized forces, for and against prohibition, marshalled their resources for continued battle.

On its tenth anniversary, Henry H. Curran, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, in a statement said that national prohibition reminded him of a squirrel in a revolving cage.

"The little fellow makes a great show of doing something," he said. "He runs at a furious pace until he is worn out, subsides long enough to catch his breath and then starts off again, more determined than ever....And the ordinary observer, outside the cage, finds himself reflecting that not all motion is progress."

On the other side, Dr. F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of America, said "increasing sentiment for national sobriety marks the first decade of constitutional prohibition.

"This sentiment has been shown in repeated elections," he added. 'A changing social attitude is being manifest. To the economic progress of the United States prohibition has undeniably contributed."

WILLIAM E. BORAH

HENRY H. CURRAN

F. SCOTT McBRIDE

GEORGE W. WICKERSHAM

Henry H. Curran, opposed to the prohibition amendment, and Dr. F. Scott McBride of the Anti-Saloon League are marshalling their forces anew as prohibition ends its first decade January 16. Senator William E. Borah is a pivotal figure in the controversy over enforcement as the Hoover commission headed by George W. Wickersham studies dry law application.

CONGRESS ENGAGED IN EFFORT TO MAKE ENFORCEMENT EASIER

Doran in his statement said that the smaller groups of scattered bootleggers had become largely a local problem.

"Economists agree that our national policy of prohibition has produced a tremendous economic advance," he said. "Sociologists all observe the great good that has come in the social lives of the people. Public drunkenness, a common spectacle before prohibition, is seldom observed these days."

When Blaine had finished his speech Senator Glass, democrat, Virginia, arose and said:

"Permit me to express my admiration for the senator's sense of humor."

Blaine had said prohibition was "fundamentally wrong in principle," and had added that the last three presidents have been "ardent advocates of enforcement" but "none has succeeded.' and that the "time has come for the prohibitionists to make good in enforcement or yield to moderation of the prohibition laws."

Dealing With Resolution

In the house Oliver asserted that "we are dealing with a laughing sporting, toasting revolution."

"The government has succeeded in driving liquor from the bar to the boudoir; from the saloon to the salon; from hops to hips; from the keg to the kitchen; from the loud speaker to the speakeasy," he said.

Representative Cooper, republican, Ohio, a dry, then assailed a recent speech by Representative Schafer, republican, Wisconsin, a wet, who had said a choice between prohibition and the Christian religion had to be made.

Cooper asserted it seemed "incredible, even to those who have long marked the daring and unscrupulousness of the liquor interests, that any man should stand on the floor of the house and make a comparison between the divine Christ, the rum runner and the bootlegger."

Still later, a resolution to declare the eighteenth amendment inoperative on the ground it had been ratified by only ten states, was introduced by Representative Laguardia, republican, New York, a wet.

BY RICHARD L. TURNER

(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—(AP)— National prohibition today celebrated its tenth anniversary in a familiar setting of acrid dispute.

On Capitol hill, the birthday of America's most discussed law found its friends coupled with plans for making its enforcement vigorously effective and its enemies arming for a mighty battle.

Congressional committees were busy formulating legislation requested by President Hoover and recommended by his law enforcement commission as a means of reducing dry law violations, while the subject of debate in the house was a measure replete with potential strife.

Appropriation featured

This was the annual appropria tion bill for the treasury department. Included in it were provisions for the financial upkeep of the prohibition enforcement unit and the coast gaurd, both of which have been under attack in recent weeks.

The senate, to be sure, was plodding along with the tariff bill, and its time was devoted to that measure, but its members were keenly alert to the developing phases of prohibition discussion.

Of particular interest to many of these was a statement from Chairman George W. Wickersham, of the law enforcement commission, with which he buttressed recommendations of his group by a vigorous assertion of their constitutionality.

Some members of congress had questioned the constitutional validity of the commission's proposal that minor violations of the dry laws be tried before an United States commissioner, thus diverting many cases from the overtaxed federal courts. They regarded it as an invasion of the constitutional right of trial by jury.

Says Plan Legal

Wickersham, a former attorney general, declared his proposition entirely constitutional and an extension of the practice in vogue in most states under which misdemeanors are tried by magistrates.

A nominating committee of the house "wets" meanwhile agreed to continue Representative J. Charles Linthicum, democrat, Maryland, as the leader of its unofficial group.

Representative Laguardia, republican, New York, threatened to bring debate on the treasury supply bill to a halt with a point of order arguing that the eighteenth amendment has never been properly ratified and is therefore void. He asserted that while the necessary 36 states had ratified the resolution creating the amendment, only ten had ratified the amendment itself.

One of the authors of the eighteenth amendment, Senator Sheppard, democrat, Texas, said of Laguardia's argument: "There is nothing to it," while Senator Borah, a severe critic of present enforcement conditions, expressed the same attitude.

Would Authorize Probe.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—(AP)— The Parker resolution to authorize an investigation into railroad security holding companies by the interstate commerce committee was given preferred status on the house legislative calendar today by its rules committee.

The investigation was proposed by Chairman Parker of the interstate commerce committee on the recommendation of the interstate commission and is supported by Representative Rayburn, Democrat, Texas, ranking minority member of the committee.

It would authorize the committee to determine the effect of holding companies on interstate and foregn commerce.

all rate increases except those on agricultural products, split on the sugar duty. Senators Borah, Idaho, and Norris, Nebraska, leaders of this block, were among those voting against an increased rate.

However, Senators Nye and Frazier of North Dakota, and Howell, Nebraska, voted against Harrisons' proposal to retain the existing sugar rate.

Senator Howell immediately sought to offer an amendment, extending to sugar producers in this country a bounty.

Galleries Are Filled.

Senate galleries were filled for the roll call. The sugar tariff has been a sore point throughout the year of tariff discussion, and this week the senate lobby committee reported expenditures of more than $400,000 by those interested in the sugar contest.

The roll call on the Harrison amendment follows:

For present sugar rate:

Republicans: Allen, Blaine, Borah, Brookhart, Capper, Gillett, Goff, Jones, Keyes, LaFollette, McMaster, Metcalf, Norbeck, Norris, Pine, Robinson of Indiana, Robison, and Schall—18.

Democrats: Ashurst, Barkley, Black, Blease, Bratton, Brock, Caraway, Connally, Dill, George, Glass, Harris, Harrison, Hawes, Hayden, Heflin, McKellar, Overman, Sheppard, Simmons, Smith, Steck, Swanson, Thomas of Oklahoma, Trammel, Tydings, Wagner,, Walsh of Massachusetts, and Wheeler—29.

Farmer Laber—Shipstead 1. Total 48.

Agaist present rate:

Democrats: Broussard, Kendrick, King, Ransell—4.

Republicans: Baird, Bingham, Couzens, Dale, Deneen, Frazier, Goldsborough, Gould, Greene, Grundy, Hale, Hastings, Hatfield, Hebert, Howell, Johnson, Kean, McCulloch, McNary, Moses, Nye, Oddie, Patterson, Phipps, Shortridge, Smoot, Steiwer, Sullivan, Thomas of Idaho, Townsend, Vandenberg, Walcott, Waterman and Watson—34.

Connally In Final Plea.

The senate heard an eleventh hour plea against an increase in the sugar tariff by Senator Connally, democrat, Texas, who said the American sugar farmer would get only one-fifth of an estimated $54,000,000 increase in sugar costs.

Connally assailed advocates of a higher sugar tariff who argued it would be a measure of farm relief, saying some of these senators had voted against the export debenture plan which in his opinion would help all the farmers.

He mentioned Senators Ransdell, democrat, Louisiana, and Vandenberg, Michigan, and Smoot, Utah, republicans.

Voting pairs were announced as follows:

For Harrison amendment, Cutting, republican, and Copeland, Robinson, Arkansas, and Walsh, Montana, democrats.

Against Harrison amendment, Fletcher, democrat, and Fess, Glenn, and Reed, republicans. Senators Pittman, Nevada and Stephens, Mississippi, were absent and unpaired.

livestock and other associations through loans," Denman said. "It can loan money for purchase, lease or construction to assist cooperative associations to have physical facilities to properly handle each commodity. We can and will make loans on commodities to protect and stabilize their values, as we did on wheat and cotton when these two commodities were threatened with serious breaks in prices at the time of the stock market crash last fall.

"Co-operative marketing by commodity associations has become a fixed policy of the government of the United States. It is hoped to place the industry on a basis of economic equality with other industries."

Mr. Denman said the great weakness of livestock selling on the terminal markets is that it is done through competitive selling to organized buying.

United Front Urged For Equitable Tariff

DENVER, Colo., Jan. 16.—(AP)— Importance of a united agricultural front in the fight for equitable tariff and railroad fates was stressed today by Victor Culberson of Silver City, N. M., president of the American National Livestock association.

"In tariff activities industry acts as a unit," he said, "and therefore has for years secured advantages denied agriculture, due to its relatively unorganized state."

Speaking of the cooperation of various national farm and dairy organizations in the united fight for a tariff on hides and live cattle rates, Mr. Culberson said there was no attempt made to secure rates that would act virtually as an embargo, but, instead, rates were asked that would lend encouragement to expansion of the industry commensurable with the increase in population.

Dumping Caused Break

"The rapid increase in imports from Mexico and the trend toward baby beef production in Canada fully justified the changes made in both rates and weight," said Mr. Culberson. "The break in the cattle market early in the fall was due to dumping large consignments from Kansas and Oklahoma pastures. Heavy speculation in these cattle, encouraged by the low tariff then in effect, is not conducive to ward orderly marketing, and all our producers have had to suffer as a result."

Declaring the American National Livestock association had not been responsible for the consent decree being imposed on the packers, Mr. Culberson said that before the decree was formulated and at frequent intervals since, the association had urged that the packers retail meat.

Spread Is Growing

"The need for this retail today appears more urgent than ever," he said. "The spread between the wholesale and retail prices of meat is greater today than ever before."

Mr. Culberson said the Box bill, or the administrative arrangement that cuts Mexican immigration to slightly more than 5,000 persons annually, is hampering the association's needs seriously.

The passage of the agricultural marketing act, providing for a fund of $500,000,000 farm loans to producer owned cooperative marketing associations was said by Mr. Culberson to have provided great initial benefit to feeders in the corn belt and direct benefit to cattle growers.

"This is no time for wildcatting in the cattle business," he concluded. "Any increase in production should be along conservative lines and on a sound financial basis."

CITY MANAGER OF BEAUMONT FAILS TO RESIGN POSITION

BEAUMONT, Jan. 16.—(AP) — City Manager J. W. Anderson, whose resignation was demanded by the city council Tuesday night, was still in the saddle today.

After complying with the council's demand so far as to prepare his resignation and place in an an envelope for mailing, Anderson changed his mind at the last minute, and the resignation was still on his desk today.

Anderson announced yesterday his resignation was being mailed at once to Mayor C. M. White, without awaiting further action of the city commission. Following this statement, however, his friends rallied to his support, and today he said that on the insistence of his supporters he had changed his original intention, but would tender the resignation as soon as requested by the city commission.

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Science Editor Asociated Press Feature Service.

NEW YORK —(AP)— A wavering sound that goes "oo-oo-oo" is traveling up and down New York streets.

It is made by a phonograph carried on a truck in the city's new campaign to curb noise, and it even measures the short skirts contribution to bedlam.

The soft note comes from a sound-measuring instrument that spells the coming doom of at least some of the noise of American cities.

For scientific findings concerning noise indicate that this telltale sound can be taken everywhere.

The girls in a large office room of an insurance company, unknown to themselves, have furnished the latest noise finding.

Its result is announced by the director of the Colgate university psychological laboratory, Dr. Donald A. Laird. These girls are typists, copying only routine records, a mechanical task at piecework pay.

On the first of last year the ceiling of their room was covered with a sound-absorbing material.

There was an immediate upward jump of 12 per cent typing speed.

The reason why is indicated in Dr. Laird's laboratory. He finds that when noise reaches a certain fixed volume there is slightly more than 20 per cent added bodily energy, measured by calories per minute burned up, than in doing the same typing in the same office with noise reduced.

When a group of women meets nowadays, there is in one respect more noise than 20 years ago. It is due to short skirts. The extra noise chargeable to each skirt ranges probably somewhere between the hum of a mosquito and the buzz of a bee.

The difference is so slight that it has not been measured, yet scientists say it exists definitely. All clothing absorbs a certain amount of sound.

Today it is estimated that an averaged-sized office with 10 women occupants has approximately 22 less absorption units than formerly, due to the noisy modern style.

But the styles of 1929 are not the objective of the little "oo-oo-oo". Instead it is catching the shrill traffic whistle, the rumble of street cars, elevated and subways, the cough of motors, slam-bang of the ash man, the folly of the motorhorn driver.

ACCUSED MAN GAVE VERSION DEATH OF YOUNG MISSOURIAN

PAWNEE, Okla., Jan. 16.—(AP)—B. O. Shepherd, real estate man told a jury today his version of the shooting of Robert Hatcher of Webb City, Mo., August 13, 1929, in a Tulsa apartment Shepherd had rented for his stenographer, Miss Alice Andrews.

He found Hatcher in Miss Andrews' apartment when he carried groceries to it, he said. He had put the groceries down, he said, when Hatcher came from the bath room with a drawn revolver and said:

"Hello, buddy, this is pay day; I've got the difference now."

In a struggle, Shepherd said he was thrown into the hallway outside the apartment and heard Hatcher moan, "I'm shot! I'm shot! I'm shot!"

Shepherd had carried the groceries to Miss Andrews apartment when she complained that ivy poisoning made it difficult for her to walk, the defendant said. They found the door locked and were unable to enter. While Shepherd and the janitor were attempting to open the door, Miss Andrews returned to Shepherd's motor car outside and waited.

WORK DEMOLISHING ROOKERY BUILDING STARTS WEDNESDAY

BUILDING VACATED AND WILL BE REPLACED WITH MODERN DYER HOME

The work of demolishing the old Rookery building at the northeast corner of Main and Collin streets make way for the modern and handsome three-story department store building for the J. M. Dyer company started in earnest Wednesday morning following the vacating of all tenants in the structure.

Contractors J. E. Metcalf & Son have erected a wall around the corner, with plank walkway for the protection of pedestrians and a large force of men was being used in razing the old structure that has stood at that corner for many years and which has housed many different Corsicana business concerns.

Of the occupants tenanting the building the Old Mill confectionery has stored its fixtures for the present, while the Old Mill News Stand has been moved to Owens Brothers confectionery on West Collin street in the former Majestic Theatre building. Mrs. Coe, who ran a small eating place in the rear of the building is now located in the State National Bank building lobby, while the rooming house, occupying the second floor of the structure has moved to a building at East Seventh avenue and Ninth street. The east half of the lower floor of the building had been vacated several weeks ago.

IN MEMORY.

The death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hanna January 10, 1930; and took from them a precious jewell, their daughter, little Mary Tabitha Hanna. She was born May 15, 1929.

Seven long months she has suffered, yet we know not why, but God above, knows and doeth all things well, and taken her home to dwell with him on high, where there is no more suffering. She will know all is joy and love.

She leaves a mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Hanna, and a host of other relatives to mourn her loss. Let us not weep for her but live a life to meet her on heaven's bright shore. It is hard to give her up when love has found thy heart, tis hard to speak the words must be ever part. We have worked with her both night and day. We have loved and cherished her, Oh! how we longed to keep her with us, but God had a vacant space, so he called our darling to fill this place.

When we see a precious blossom that we tended with such care rudely taken from our bosom. It is only a flower budded on earth to bloom in heaven. Round her little grave we linger till the setting sun is low, feeling all our hopes have vanished with the flower we cherished so.

Tabitha shall sleep, but not forever in that lone and silent grave. Blessed be the Lord that taketh, Blessed be the Lord that giveth In that bright, eternal city death shall never, never come in his own own good time He'll call us from cur rest to home sweet home.

She shall sleep but not forever. Then there will be a glorius dawn We shall meet her to part no more in that happy home above.

Written by the ones who love her.

First National Bank Of Corsicana Million Dollar Institution

Increasing the surplus to $500.000 declaring a twelve percent dividend, naming three new members on the board of directors and reelecting all of the present officers were the high points of business transacted Tuesday afternoon at the annual stockholders meeting of the First National Bank.

J. N. Edens was unanimously reelected president and the new members of the board included R. D. Fleming, Will Thompson and J. N. Edens, Jr.

Financial history was written in Corsicana when the bank increased its surplus $150,000 making the total $500,000. This action on the part of the stockholders makes the First National Bank a million dollar institution as the capital stock is also $500,000. Undivided profits amount to $44,000. Additional protection is provided the depositors in the amount of $500,000 through stockholders liability.

Officers and Directors

The officers of the bank are: J. N. Edens, president; Chas. H. Mills, vice-president; A. M. Milligan, vice-president; Mrs. Kate H. Whiteselle, vice-president; R. L. Hamilton, vice-president; J. N. Garitty, vice-president; J. H. Roberts, cashier and trust officer; F. T. Lindsey, assistant cashier; Chas. W. Croft, asistant cashier; Wm. J. Rochelle, assistant cashier.

The directors include: Chas. H. Mills, J. N. Edens, Mrs. Kate H. Whiteselle, J. L. Whiteselle, J. D. Cunningham, R. D. Fleming, Will Thompson, A. M. Milligan, R. L. Hamilton, C. S. Stroud, J. N. Garitty, C. A. Tatum, J. N. Edens, Jr., and John P. Garitty.

The First National Bank is now the largest bank between Dallas and Houston and Texarkana and Waco, and ranks with the strongest banks in the state of Texas.

Organized In 1871

To read the record of this strong financial institution since its organization in 1871 when James Garitty and Joseph Huey formed a partnership and established a private bank is like taking a page from most romantic fiction. These hardy pioneers in the financial history of Corsicana had vision and dreamed a dream. This dream was a million dollar institution and Tuesday afternoon the present officers of the bank had the extreme satisfaction of making the dream of the founders a reality.

The private bank was chartered as a national bank in 1886 with a capital stock of $100,000. The original stockholders were James Garitty, Joseph Huey, W. R. Bright, Louis Cerf, Edmund Raphael, Charles H. Allyn, Alexander Fox and S. A. Pace, all serving as a board of directors. These men have all passed to their reward but they builded well on a firm foundation of conservative and constructive banking and the record of fifty-nine years of achievement and progress is a fitting background of the present day modern banking house.

Of the original partners in the banking venture Mr. Huey died many years ago leaving Capt. Garitty at the helm where he remained continuously directing the policies of the bank until only a few years ago when death called him.

Although the loss of Captain Garitty was keenly felt the organization he had moulded carried on and J. N. Edens was elected president which office he now holds. The bank has continued to prosper and increase in strength under the able direction of Mr. Edens, assisted by a strong board of directors, until the present high place in the financial world was reached—that of a million dollar bank.

Throughout the entire period of the bank's organization it has never failed to pay the stockholders a substantial dividend with the capital and surplus increased regularly.

All of the officials have a keen sense of duty and fully realize their responsibility to the community which the bank has so long and faithfully served.

The First National Bank has played a very important part in the building of the community and is now better equipped than ever before to assist in the future growth.

The bank enjoyed an excellent year in 1929 and enters the new year with increased optimism and a bright outlook for continued prosperity and growth.

The officers and directors have been flooded with congratulations since it became generally known that the million dollar mark had been reached in the bank's history.

MAN AT TOP WORLD TALKS WITH BYRD AT BOTTOM FOR HOUR

MOSCOW, Jan. 14.—(AP)—A wireless triumph over time and space was achieved on December 1 by Ivan Krenkel, chief Russian Radio operator in Franz Josef Land, when he talked by radio for more than an hour with Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd at the South Pole.

Krenkel, the man at the top of the world, says he communicated with Rear Admiral Byrd, at the bottom of it, on a short wave length of 41 meters over a distance of nearly 15,000 miles. The wireless station in Franz Josef Land is the northernmost radio outpost in the world, lying far north of the Arctic Circle.

In a message today to the newspaper Izvestia, Krenkel said Admiral Byrd asked news of the missing American flier Eielson, lost over northeastern Siberia, and talked about weather conditions in the antarctic. Krenkel gave him the weather news from the arctic and exchanged greetings with members of the Bryd exposition.

No Mention Merger Carried in Reports Of Bank Meetings

In the reports of the stockholders' meeting of the First National Bank and the Corsicana National Bank held Tuesday, no reference was amde of the rumored merger of the two banks which was being talked on the streets several days ago.

In the absence of any mention of the merger it is surmised the consolidation failed to materialize and the two banks, both strong financially and otherwise, will continue business as separate institutions as in the past.

Return of Cold Weather in This Area Predicted

DALLAS, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Unwilling to relinquish its hold on Northeast Texas, winter, through its spokesman, the weather man, promised to return tonight with freezing temperatures.

The coming cold was presaged in Dallas today by a dropping mercury which touched 32—freezing—late this morning. Murky skies with threats of rain were other signs.

The vanguard of the predicted norther sent Panhandle temperatures tumbling to 16 above zero, and comparable marks were expected as far south as Dallas tonight.

Despite the cold weather, clearing skies were predicted for this section tomorrow.

GULF COMPANY TO BUILD NEW STATION COLLIN AND TWELFTH

Another building project was announced Wednesday by E. E. Babers, local agent for the Gulf Oil company here in its distributing department when it was stated that the corner lot at Collin and Twelfth street had been purchased by the Gulf company and a modern brick filling station erected there as soon as the lot is cleared and the contract can be let.

The property was recently purchased and is on the southeast corner of the street intersections and the station will be patterned after the Gulf company's standard filling stations that have been and are being erected in many cities. It will be of the most modern in and out type and will add another business concern to the growing number in Corsicana.

BUMPER EXPORTS.

The United States came out on top in world trade in 1929. Both exports and imports reached unprecedented figures. Exports valued at $5,300,000,000 and imports of $4,450,000,000 leave a huge trade balance in our favor.

Imports increased 8 per cent and exports about 4 per cent. That disparity in favor of foreign producers should cause no concern here inasmuch as it enabled foreign markets to consume more American goods and indicates, more than anything else, that European production is returning to normal.

In all the facts relating to world trade last year there is nothing to substantiate the idle talk that has been going on in connection with revision of the tariff. The expansion movement which has been in progress since 1921 was continued without the slightest interruption. It should be comforting to alarmists who feared that the bottom was going to fall out of the nation's foreign trade anyway and therefore congress should double the tariff on everything, to note that their fears were quite unfounded.

Our leadership in the exporting of manufactured products makes it clear that the foreign trade of the United States continues to grow because of the efficiency of American factories and the gradual improvement of conditions in customer nations.

As long as the world continues to buy made-in-America goods in increasing quantities the United States should bother its head about foreign embargoes and retaliatory duties.

THE "FENCE."

The "fence" is the hidden force which foments organized crime against life and property. Why not attack the arch-enemy and backer or criminals? Why not go after the "fence," who is still the greatest single cause of organized crime? Why not suppress finance that fosters crime and so reduce the cost of insurance against crime?

Hundreds of millions of dollars' worth of stolen or fradulently obtained goods finds its way into the hands of "fences" each year in the United States. Silks and furs are stolen by the trunk load, freed of identifying marks, shipped to distant points for sale—with the aid of "fences." Burglar and bandit spoil in the form of jewelry is smelted and refined into bullion—with the aid of "fences" and of a United States mint that asks few questions. Diamonds and similar precious loot are daily sold in every city by unscrupulous auctioneers or fly-by-night "cash vendors" who often do business on the side-walk—with the aid of "fences." Vast quantities of merchandise criminally obtained by credit frauds, fake fires and burglaries are resold, sometimes in direct competition with the original manufacturers of the goods—with the aid of "fences."

Behind it all lurks the "fence."

Yet in the whole crime-directory the "fence" is the last man to be caught and adequately punished. There are few fences in the jails and penitentiaries although there is hardly a robbery without its "fence." And in most of the bigger robberies the "fence" not only gets the loot but plans the crime. Because he is hard to get, society and the police prefer to consider him as an unreachable figure of the underworld.

* * *

MEANINGLESS TALK.

One reason for the lack of enthusiastic public response to contemporary discussions of world peace and disarmament is a general feeling that the speakers leave the matter too much in the air of merely a pious aspiration. What they want, all want, but to stop to think about it is to come to the conclusion that the only way to abolish war is to put something effective in its stead. Hostilities cannot be averted by simply wishing that they might never occur.

Disclaimers and renunciations of war in peace pacts and arbitration treaties have no binding effect. They are no more than amiable flourishes of international friendship. A universal treaty would have no great value in actually outlawing or forever preventing war if it confined itself to vague and magniloquent protestations of a desire for endless peace. There must be positive, definite and workable alternatives for war if war is forever to be banished among the civilized nations.

This is an international concern and must be dealt with internationally. A mere conference between two nations in danger of embroilment will not necessarily suffice to keep the peace. Here is where the effectiveness of American anti-war diplomacy is seriously hampered. There exists a great international organization for restraining would-be belligerents, but from it the United States holds aloof. It is the League of Nations. It is the solecism of power to desire strongly an end without in the least being willing to adopt the means of it.

THE CASE OF INDIVIDUALISM.

Italy's minister of justice sums up the fascist theory of government that, "fascism is the denial of individualism. The individual is only the means to achieve the noble purpose of the state. As a result we feel justified in suppressing those who would retard the progress of the state."

This has been familiar doctrine ever since the Greeks began to speculate concerning the political animal called Man. It has been violently assailed and resolutely defended. The ancient world leaned strongly toward subjugation of the individual to the common will. Modern political theory has moved in the other direction, despite such notable examples as Hobbes and his political Leviathan and Hegel with his exaltation of the state as the highest expression of human spirit.

More than a generation ago Herbert Spencer sounded a warning against the imminent despotism of the socialist state. Today there are socialists who, from their own point of view, demand the decentralization of the state. Whenever the power of the many threatens the interests of the comparatively few, the demand is raised for limiting the power of the many.

The fascist idea might be acceptable if the "noble purpose" of the state were to serve the individual citizen. And the great fault of these Spartan states is that while they pretend to be robbing the individual to pay the state they are in reality robbing the majority to pay the ruling minority.

And of what good is a great nation if its citizens have been deprived of every liberty, right and happiness in building it?

For Americans it must remain true that the power of the majority, even if on occasion arbitrarily exercised, is definitely preferable to the arbitrary power of the handful or of one.

MALE INCONSTANCY

Philosophers and poets have mused on the inconstancy of women, but very little on the inconstancy of man. Tradition pictures man as a great positive creature selecting a goal and going straight for it; of knowing exactly what he wants and getting it.

How different is this from the man that every wife knows! Try as she may to do the thing that pleases him she will find herself going continually wrong. His only constancy, as she sees it, is his inconstancy.

Does a husband complain that he is dragged away from the quiet and comfort of his fireside too much at night? Let his wife arrange to go out without him and he will feel hurt and insist on tagging along.

Every husband tells his wife that certain of her kitchen preparations he has no taste for. The same detested dishes served away from home he will eat with relish and embarrass his good wife by demanding in company to know why she never cooks such delicacies. Moreover, the appetites and tastes of the inconstant male are so variable as the color of feminine hosiery.

Let men speak wisely of the business barometer and underlying causes, and trends and tendencies. His wife knows that these are just the result of the ruminations of husbands who have not the faintest idea what they want, and no wives about to tell them.

EVIVAL OF THE HUNT.

In comparison with men's long record as a hunter, it is only in the relatively late days that the fox has become an esteemed object of the chase. True, Reynard is mentioned in a hunting treatise of Edward II's time, but only to be classed among the small fry, and it was not until about 1750 that proper packs of foxhounds were organized.

The rise of the fox was a curious minor effect of the civil war between king and parliament. Until then the red deer abounded in most parts of England, and was the chief "beast of venery," but during the nine years of war both sides found venison a welcome addition to an often scanty commissarist. The result was the almost complete extinction of the deer, which left the fox as the single native animal capable of giving a good sporting run.

Riding to the hounds after the red fox was one of the earliest of American sports, but until quite recently it was society's private game. New hunting clubs, first appearance of hunts in many widely scattered places and a growing demand for "jumpers" indicate it is becoming anybody's fun, with the exception of the luckless foxes.

Deer are not the pursued in the chase here but it is not down in Pennsylvania in 10 days this season and several other of the so-called effete Eastern states had large kills. Hunting, once the principal livelihood of a large percentage of Americans, is now the favorite sport of even larger numbers.

THE POWER PROBE.

This month revives the federal trades commission's investigation of the power industry. The next chapter in this story of power development and the eternal conflict between public welfare and private property will be a rebuttal by the power interests of the many revelations regarding their propaganda activities. After this self-whitewashing the power interests will go into financial aspects of their industry with the commission.

This probe is of no little consequence, both to the public and to the future of super-power interests. Upon its findings may be formulated the nation's policy toward development of water and distribution of electric power. From it may come an extension of public ownership and control or more rigid governmental regulation.

Too much depends upon the nation's power, potential and actual, to entrust it with the politics-ridden congress, so the responsibility, and it is a grave one, was placed upon the federal trade commission.

The commission serves two masters. It must protect every public interest and at the same time avoid doing anything likely to retard the orderly growth of superpower. The government must do nothing to scare capital away from the power industry until the government itself is ready to finance the development of that greatest of all present national needs, superpower.

AMERICAN BAKERY HOLDS MEETING AND ELECTS OFFICERS

JOHN C. HUGHES TAKES OVER ACTIVE MANAGEMENT EFFECTIVE TUESDAY

The American Bakery held its annual meeting of stockholders on Monday night at 8 o'clock at the bakery with a buffet luncheon and after declaring a substantial divident also passed a nice sum to surplus, the capital stock of this growing institution being $35,000.

Following a report of the past year's business which was the best in the history of the company, the total sales running over $100,000, the following board of directors and officers for the new year were elected: directors: E. W. Cunningham, Allen Edens, L. C. Molloy, H. B. Bonner, A. H. Bonner, John C. Hughes; officers: John C. Hughes, president and manager; A. H. Bonner, vice-president; L. C. Molloy, secretary and treasurer.

Owing to the health of his wife, E. W. Cunningham was forced to sell out his interest in the company with John C. Hughes purchasing some of his stock, which with the stock he already owned gives Mr. Hughes controlling interest in the bakery. Within a few days Mr. Cunningham will join his wife in West Texas where she has been for the past two years for her health.

President Hughes is very optimistic over the prospects for the new year's business, and is making plans to accomodate the growing and satisfied list of patrons better than ever before, claiming that 1930 will be the best year his bakery will have.

The American Bakery has had a remarkable growth during the time it opened for business, and now employs eighteen men, with modern equipment and delivery service in keeping with progressive bakery.

Mr. Hughes took the management of the bakery over Tuesday where he will be found in the future, and where he says a glad hand of welcome will always be found to the many friends and patrons of the firm.

FAME OF SARGON NOW SPREADS OVER WORLD

People of This Country Sending Famous Medicine to Relatives and Friends in England, Scotland, Ireland, France, Canal Zone, Norway, Sweden, Cuba and Many Other Distant Lands.

If you had found a medicine that was of such benefit to you that you would go to the trouble of sending it to relatives and friends in distant countries, you would have to be convinvced in your own mind that it possessed real merit, wouldn't you?

That's just what thousands of people throughout the United States have been doing with Sargon.

From all over America and wherever Sargon has been introduced, thousands of letters have been received from grateful users telling of the gratifying results that have been accomplished by this celebrated medicine.

THOUSANDS EXPRESS GRATITUDE

On November 27th, a letter dated November 23rd, was received at the Sargon offices advising that in one week one drug firm alone had received orders for Sargon to be shipped to Cavite, Philippine Islands; Coca Solo, Canal Zone, Belebrook, Ireland; and Paris, France.

Only recently a well-known resident of Denver, Colorado, who has been restored to health by Sargon, sent a full treatment to London, England, to his sister, who is the wife of an executive of one of the greatest retail drug firms in the British Empire.

During the past month there appeared in the Toronto papers the statement of a well-known World War veteran whose health had been greatly impaired while in the service, who stated among other things, that he owed his restoration to health to two bottles of Sargon sent him by a friend in Minneapolis.

LETTERS RECEIVED FROM THE NORTHWEST

From the Northwest, many letters of this kind have been received advising that users of Sargon are sending it to relatives back in their old countries of Norway and Sweden.

Many such letters and endorsements have been received from men of prominence, including former governors, business and professional men, mayors, state and county officials, and even Ministers of the Gospel have deemed it their duty to come forward and tell what Sargon has done for them.

These are only a few of thousands of such cases and not a day nor a week passes that does not bring hundreds of statements from the people concerning the good this medicine is doing, and reciting case after case that would convince the most skeptical.

Sargon's fame is built on actual results—not empty promises, and only those who have put it to the test know its real powers.

Sargon's aim is not mere temporary relief, but new and abundant health. No wonder it is now called the medicine with a million friends.

FOR COUNTY JUDGE

In another portion of this paper will be found the formal announcement of Clay Nash, county judge, for reelection (second term), subject to the democratic primaries. Judge Nash is serving his first term as county judge of Navarro county, and his many friends feel that his record since assuming this office is such that entitles him to reelection without opposition, and feel that he has conducted the varied duties in a business-like and efficient manner.

Judge Nash states that it will be his main purpose during the second term to work unceasingly to conclude the road building program which is under way at the present time. Much of the time of the county judge is taken up with the duties incident to the commissioners court work on roads and like matters. Judge Nash's friends feel that if he is reelected, the road building program which is getting under full swing at the present time will be pushed with all dispatch, and since he is conversant of the details of the vast amount of work on the various projects, he should be returned to the office.

Judge Nash is well-known over the county, and his friends feel that his candidacy should receive the serious consideration and support of the voters.

SEEKING SETTLE ESTATE MAN WHO DIED HERE 1911

SUM OF MONEY HAS BEEN IN LOCAL BANK SINCE THAT DATE; FAMILY IN IRELAND

After almost nineteen years, the children of a Corsicana man are seeking to procure the small estate left by him, money in a local bank, and despositions and powers-of-attorney are being prepared, Clay Nash, county judge of Navarro county, revealed Tuesday morning.

The family of the man were notified of his death a short time after he was buried, but no effort had been made to settle up his estate.

John S. Agnew, flagman foor the Cotton Belt railroad here for a number of years, left his wife and six children in Ireland, in 1889 and acme to America. His whereabouts were not known by his family, but a brother in Kentucky wrote his family a short time after his death here where he had resided for a number of years. Agnew died and was buried here Feb. 9, 1911. At the time of his death, an account of $784.50 was carried in the First National bank here and upon an investigation recently, the money was still in the local bank. The wife of Agnew died about eight years ago in Ireland and the six children are now seeking to settle the estate.

An attorney in Massachusetts is handling the matter.

Following are the names and addresses of the six surviving children:

William Agnew, Rannelly, Omagh, County Tyrone, Ireland; Eliza Anderson, 815 Main street, Nutana, Saskatoon, Sask., Canada; Anna Margaret Faulkner, Dumlister, Six Mile Cross, County Tyrone, Ireland; Jane Lyons, Ballintrain, Six Mile Cross, County Tyrone, Ireland; Mary Ellis, 401 Bowman St., Westboro, Massachusetts; and Helen Hughes, Altmore Pomeroy, County Tyrone, Ireland.

The various necessary despositions are being sent to the heirs in Canada and Ireland in an effort to close out the estate here.

Agnew had lost one leg. He is said to have never said anything about his family in Ireland.

Farmers in Barry Community are selling each month Milk, Cream, Chickens and Eggs amounting to approximately $2,000.00 through a co-operative plan which does not require the time for them to go to market.

Other communities in Navarro county could well afford to make such an arrangement in order to add to their income without loss of the farmers time.

Greatest Work In World Was Begun By Oriental Lakeside

Lake Geneva and Lake of Galilee Contrasted Democracys Big Idea of Reliance Upon the Potentialities of Plain Folks.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS.

Two lakes claim to be waters of destiny. One is Lake Leman, commonly called Lake Geneva, on the banks of which sits the League of Nations, and many another international conference. It typifies organization. Here, partsans say, human history is to be remade.

The other lake bears few modern craft on its bosom, and has no great buildings on its banks; and sees no conventions. This is the Lake of Galilee, source of streams of life, light and healing which have flowed down through the centuries from a Personality. For the power and charm of the Lake of Galilee is that on and by its waters Jesus Christ spoke His message and did His mightiest works, and began to remake this world of men.

By way of this storied lake, with its brown hills to the East and South, and its sloping shores on the North and the West, dotted with villages, Bedouin encampments, and one sizable city, Tiberias, one may come into a fresh understanding of the personality and purposes of Jesus. In boyhood and young manhood. He had lived in the hill town of Nazareth, about 17 miles west of the lake. At the beginning of His public ministry He made Hs home in the thriving cosmopolitan city of Capernaum, at the upper end of the lake. From the ranks of the fishermen on the lake He drew some of His disciples. Doubtless His own hands were callouse̊d not only from the long use of a carpenter's tools, but also from rowing the heavy sweeps by which the Galilee boats are propelled.

Repeatedly, I have sojourned by the lake; and I have swum and fished in its cool, sweet waters; and sailed upon it, by day and by night, in calm and storm. The inefable glory of its sunrises and its sunsets are treasures of memory. Jesus becomes a very real and near Person to the reverent student of the New Testament, who lives leisurely by this lake that He loved.

Getting a Start.

Over in Jerusalem there is a man, somewhat of a nuisance to his acquaintances, who calls himself the Messiah. He is forever pestering people to listen to his claims and he is willing to make serious compromises to have these accepted. Since he does none of the works of the Messiah, he is either ignored or derided. In India, the Theosophist leaders, elaborately trained a young man, Krishnamurti, to become "the World Teacher," but he, too, is merely regarded as a curiosity by the public. Times without number men, now forgotten, have put forth claims to Messiahship.

Their experience contrasts sharply with that of Jesus. He seemed scarcely interested, at the outset, to have men accept Him in His full significance. In modest manner, He simply began to teach and to heal and to mnister. Without seeking any great and conspicious arena for His activities—He did not resort to Rome, nor even to Jerusalem—Jesus commenced His career in humblest fashion, with the shores of the Lake of Galilee as His base; knowing that from anywhere one may go everywhere. To those nearest Him, He began to show Himself a leader, a teacher, a helper.

When I visited the dug-out ruins of the synagogue at Chorazin, in which Jesus taught, and the other at Tell Hum, the traditional Capernaum, I was struck by their smallness. Even the humblest preacher today would scarcely be content with so tiny a church. Yet Jesus began to build up His kingdom in just such obscure places. And he sought no friends of influence and position, but took into His fellowship a group of fishermen, who would have remained fishermen to the end, had He not taught them a largeness of life that ultimately made them saints, heroes, apostles, and world leaders. Ah, the patience of real greatness!

Democracy's Big Idea.

In thus building His permanent work upon a selected group of most ordinary men—soiled and smelly lake fishermen, be it remembered—Jesus laid down the bedrock of democracy. He revealed the capabilities of the commoner. For ages the idea had been accepted—until the world war gave it a death blow—that leadership belonged to some aristocracy or other, to the sons of privilege and place. The Master showed, however, that there are latent possibilties of greatness in even the least of men. Everybody has ability beyond what he ordinarily displays. Our modern captains of industry all once wore overalls. This New World has got its major-generals of business by promotion from the ranks; only the drum-majors, whose function is to look ornamental and march at the front of a procession which other men have planned, come from the privileged groups.

What Jesus did with Peter and Andrew and James and John and their fishing fellows, many a minister has also done with the average young men of his congregation. It is the privilege of every teacher and pastor, who has learned the Jesus-method of making disciples, to stimulate and train young people into largeness of life and service.

Indeed, it is incumbent upon every follower of Jesus to grow into a greater life than would otherwise have been his. Finer quality, sturdier power, greater initiative, larger scope, are the proper inheritance of every Christian, who can say, with Paul "I can do all things through Christ who strengtheneth me."

Hard Knocks for Preacher Talk.

Too many preachers talk too much like preachers. They develop a ministerial manner and a ministerial vocabulary, whch shut them out of natural fellowship with plain folk. Our Lord spoke the common speech. He hailed the rough Galileans in language they knew and liked. He never juggled high-sounding phrases, strange to the ears of the ordinary people. Into the everyday speech of shop and field and fishing boat, he put the loftiest thought ever presented to man.

We must strip Jesus of the conventional wrappings in which art and literature have encased Him. What a poor, personless, juiceless, painted figure He is represented to be in most books and church windows! We need to rediscover the ruggedness of the ruddy Christ who won sturdy men to Himself with a word. Plainly, He was one of those leaders who "had a way with him," which other men, as well as women and little children, found irrestible. This Master of the open road, of the open boat and of the open air, was no musty worm of the books, but an Original and a Fellow. Do we, like Him, draw real men to us?

Keeping on the Move.

Because He was young and virile and engaged in a great, constructive work, Jesus moved briskly about. His was an active ministry. Tirelessly, He went hither and yon, making new contacts, finding fresh fields. Perhaps the aged may sit still and teach; but the vigorous must be up and doing. A good minister needs to go oftener to the shoemaker than to the tailor. There is a whole theological course wrapped u pin the record that Jesus "went about" doing good. Muscles as well as minds are needed for Christ's work. "We learn to do by doing."

An amazing proportion of the time of Jesus was spent in performing simple deeds of helpfulness. He was busy to tiredness in ordinary ministry. In our day "conferences" are the fashionable form of religious activity: not so with the Master; He was first of all a doer. His conferences were mostly at night, alone with His Father. Day after day, He felt the compulsion of service: "I must work."

STORIES BEHIND FAMOUS HYMNS.

III.

Rock of Ages.

Rock of Ages, cleft for me,
Let me hide myself in Thee;
Let the water and the blood,
From Thy riven side which flowed,
Be of sin the double cure,
Cleanse me from its guilt and power.

Not the labors of my hands
Can fulfil Thy law's demands;
Could my zeal no respite know,
Could my tears for ever flow,
All for sin could not atone;
Thou must save, and Thou alone.

Nothing in my hand I bring,
Simply to Thy cross I cling;
Naked, come to Thee for dress,
Helpless, look to Thee for grace;
Foul, I to the fountain fly;
Wash me, Saviour, or I die.

While I draw this fleet breath,
When my eyelids close in death,
When I soar to worlds unknown
See Thee on Thy judgment throne,
Rock of Ages, cleft for me,
Let me hide myself in Thee.
—Rev. Augustus M. Toplady, 1776.

By William A. Bard.

When August Montague Toplady (1740-1778) wrote the hymn, "Rock of Ages," in the year of American Independence, he meant it to be only a stone hurled at the head of the Wesleyans, against whom he was an ardent controversialist. It was only as an expression of his own stern Calvanism that he framed the lines, to rebuke the Arminianism of the Wesleys.

Time has mercifully blotted out that old theological controversy, even as it has obliterated a hundred others, but the hymn lives on through the generations, as one of the best-loved expressions of Christian faith and aspiration.

Strangely enough, Toplady, who was a consumptive, and an obscure minister of the Anglican Church, in a little town in Devonshire, had himself been converted by the illiterate sermon of a Wesleyan layman, James Morris, in a meeting held in a barn in rural Ireland. Toplady was then a lad of sixteen. Thus a zealous layman, who could scarcely spell his own name, must be linked with one of the immortal treasures of hymnody.

It is told of Gladstone that once, during a debate in the House of Commons, while he was being bitterly attacked, he was seen to be writing absorbedly—presumably a reply to his adversary. A friend leaned over Mr. Gladstone's shoulder, and saw that what he really was writing was a Latin translation of "Rock of Ages." The famous statesman also translated the hymn into Greek and Italian; and at his deathbed he had this favorite hymn sung to him. The Prince Consort also loved this hymn and as he lay dying in Windsor Castle, in 1861, he was heard repeating softly.

"Rock of Ages, cleft for me,
Let me hide myself in Thee."

"The International Sunday School Lesson for January 19 is "Jesus Begins His Ministry" —Matthew 4:17-25.

STATE INCOME TAX PROPOSAL WILL NOT BE SUBMITTED NOW

AUSTIN, Jan. 15.—(P)—Assurances that a state income tax proposal will not be submitted to the special session of the legislature have been given by Gov. Moody.

The governor said he had been advised from many parts of Texas that a fund was being collected to be used in opposing passage of an income tax.

"To inquiries made of me I have replied that I do not intend to submit the subject of an ncome tax to the legislature and that hence they need not contribute to the 'slush fund,'" Gov. Moody said.

His announcement means the subject of revenue will not be opened at all.

Rep. T. N. Mauritz of Ganado, author of a bill levying an income tax during the legislature last winter and fall, announced he would be a candidate for governor with the income tax his main platform plank after his measure had been killed in committee.

In addresses before the legislature and committees, Governor Moody had expressed hope some kind of an income tax could be devised to replace the ad valorem levy, thus shifting the burden of taxation "from the land and home owners to those with large incomes." He said, however, he would not favor an income tax unless it replaced the ad valorem tax.

Members of the Corsicana police department were searching Tuesday for a man who is alleged to have passed a number of forged checks on local merchants during the past few days. The checks were stolen from the office of the J. R. Neece Lumber company.

According to information available, the office of the lumber company was entered Thursday night and the checks taken, the intruder even filling out the checks on a check protector in the office before making his escape. Sheriff Rufus Pevehouse and City Officer Dave Seaton were reported to have been slain in a gun battle early Monday morning, and late Monday afternoon, the two officers were reported to have been victims in an automobile wreck but Sheriff Pevehouse strenuously denied both rumors and is at a loss to account for the starting of such unfounded rumors. He said the report of his death was grossly exaggerated and that he never felt better.

Numerous calls were received at the sheriff's office and jail concerning the reports Monday and Tuesday morning. "Tell them in the paper that there is nothing to it," the genial sheriff said Tuesday morning, "and I don't know of any reason for the starting of such reports."

POWER PLANT AT TRINIDAD WILL BE DOUBLED IN SIZE

CORSICANA ONE OF MAIN DISTRIBUTING POINTS; WORK STARTS SOON

DALLAS, Jan. 15.—Construction will start within a few days on a large unit which will double the present capacity of the Trinidad station of the Texas Power and Light Company on the banks of the Trinity river in Henderson county, President and General Manager John W. Carpenter announced Tuesday. The plant which now serves more than 300 Texas cities and towns will have a capacity of 80,000 kilowatts when the new unit is completed..

The additional capacity will consist of one 40,000-kilowatt turbine and generator unit and two 32,000-square-foot high pressure boilers. An additional reinforced concrete smokestack will rise 300 feet above the roof, which will make its crown 400 feet above ground level.

Increased Demand.

The unit will be arranged so that future Texas power needs can be met with like units on an original plan that provided for an eventual plant of 160,000 kilowatts, four times the size of the present plant.

"The addition is being made to take care of the increase in demand on the transmission system," Mr. Carpenter said.. "We anticipated the additional unit a little later than this date, but the demand for electric power has grown faster than was originally estimated."

Three hundred workmen will be employed on the job when construction gets in full swing, and it is estimated that the enlarged plant will be in operation within fourteen months.

Use Lignite.

"This additional unit," Mr. Carpenter said, "will utilize Texas lignite like the present unit. This lignite, which comes from mines near the plant, is ground and powdered to the fineness of cement and blown into furnaces under the high pressure boilers. The Trinidad plant is the only large one in Texas that burns lignite exclusivey.

Mr. Carpenter thinks that the enlarging of the power facilities will be a further stimulus to industrial development along the company's transmission lines, especially in its neighboring section of East Texas.

"This section," Mr. Carpenter said, "already has seen much development since the plant was built three years ago, and further interest is anticipated."

In addition to the plant expansion, the program provides that an additional 132,000-volt line will be built south from Trinidad. The line will connect with the southern end of the present transmission line system and later another 132,000-volt line will be built from Trinidad to the large switching station at Hillsboro.

Serves 302 Communities.

There are now five high-voltage transmission lines radiating from Trinidad with a 132,000-volt line to Royce City and a 60,000-volt line from there to Sherman and Denison; a 60,000-volt line to Athens, Tyler, Palestine and Crockett; a 60,000 volt line to Corsicana, and another 60,000-volt line to Navarro and Corsicana, tying into the central transmission system at Corsicana.

The Texas Power and Light company now serves 302 cities and towns and many dairies and farms from rural lines.

Industrial plant operators are realizing the efficiency of electric power and converting equipment to its use constantly, Mr. Carpenter said. The company's lines now serve many cotton gins and cotton mills, pipe line pumping stations, cottonseed oil mills, railroad shops, machine shops, woodworking pants, city waterworks, pumping plants, refineries, brick and tile plants, cement plants, dairy products plants, oil fields, grain elevators, flour mills, cothing manufacturing plants and allied industries of Texas' rich raw products field.

Mothers appreciate Vicks, because there's no "dosing" to upset children's stomachs. It is equally good for adults. Just rubbed on, Vicks acts thru the skin like a plaster; it also gives off medicated vapors which are inhaled.

ONLY TWO SUBJECTS WERE MENTIONED IN CALL FOR JAN. 20

GOVERNOR RESERVED RIGHT HOWEVER, TO SUBMIT ADDITIONAL MATTERS

AUSTIN, Jan. 14.—(AP)—The legislature will meet to consider prison centralization and reorganization and regulation of the fees of office on next Monday, January 20, at noon.

Governor Moody issued his official proclamation yesterday, declaring reports of committees created by the legislature to conduct investigations and make recommendations on these matters indicated "an emergency and imperative public necessity" for their consideration.

The governor reserved the right in his official proclamation to submit "such other subjects of public importance, from time to time during the session."

This will be the fourth called session of the 41st legislature, which convened for its regular biennial session on January 8, 1929. It was in session a total of 144 days during the year, the third called session having ended on July 20 last and there having been interims between sessions.

Only 30 Days Long

A special session under the consituation automatically expires on the 30th day. A regular session may continue indefinitely, the only inhibition placed by the constitution on these being that at the end of 60 days the pay of legislators shall be $2 per day. For the first sixty days the daily wage is $5.

There will be three recommendations bearing on prison centralization before the legislature. The major report will oppose a new central plant with industrial equipment on a site of 1,000 acres within 20 miles of Austin. While the estimated cost is $4,000,000, it is proposed to appropriate $1,000,000 the first year and $500,000 annually thereafter until it is completed.

Two minority reports suggest rehabilitation of the present walls at Huntsville and construction of a central plant on the Imperial state farm near Houston, respectively.

The governor, referring to the prison system, said 'humanitarian consideration, state pride and the economic welfare of the state call for a prompt solution of this public problem."

Physical Properties Poor

He said the physical properties now constituting the prison system are of such nature as to make impossible the efficient operation of a modern penal institution, and "are responsible for the failure of the prison system to accomplish the major and more important purposes of such an institution." He said the present system had "constituted a continuous and expensive drain upon the resources of the state."

Referring to the fee committe's report, the governor said it attempted to show that some county officers are receiving as much as $22,000 net per year; that with apparent legal sanction some county officers are placing trust funds in banks and drawing and retaining interest on the daily balances; that with apparent legal authority certain officers are being allowed addition compensation over and above that fixed by law; that fees in delinquent tax suits are more burdensome than just; and that certain counties are entering into contacts for delinquent taxes at unreasonable rates of compensation to the contractor.

Seeks Change Dean Prohibition Law

DALLAS, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Representative Jack Keller today forwarded a letter to Gov. Dan Moody asking the governor to include among items for consideration of the special session of the legislature a bill amending the Dean prohibition law, which Rep. Keller believes will make the Dean law more in conformitory with federal prohibition statutes.

The bill is the same one that was passed by the house in the last regular session, but was said to have been crowded out of the senate by a heavy crush of other legislation. Keller said if the governor did not see fit to place the matter before the special session the bill would be submitted at the next regular session.

"I believe," he said, "that it is in line with President Hoover's plan to relieve federal courts, and it will in addition, add approximately $7,500,000 to revenues of state courts." He explained that whils most federal prosecutions are of arrests made by city and county officers, the federal courts get fines and court costs.

EMHOUSE MAN SAYS HENS PAY DIVIDEND THROUGHOUT YEAR

Slightly more than $2 per hen was the dividend declared by the flock of White Leghorns of R. F. Byers of Emhouse during the year 1929. Mr. Byers stated Wednesday that during the past twelve months he cleared a net profit of $309.39 off a flock of 150 hens.

Total income from the chickens during the year was $449.99, while the feed bills for the year amounted to $140.60, leaving an average earning of two dollars per hen. His entire flock numbers about 200 fowls at this time, but will be culled in the near future. The income was from the sale of eggs alone, since no fowls were placed on the market.

Mr. Byers asserted that poultry raising was certainly a paying proposition, adding that he had disposed of $10 worth of eggs within a short time during the morning.

FORD, ROSENWALD AND OTHERS HELD BE COTTON ENEMIES

WITNESS TELLS OF ALLEGED REMORSELESS PLAN USED BY BIG CONCERNS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14. —(AP)— Arthur Marsh, former president of the New York cotton exchange, sugested today before a senate subcommittee investigating cotton exchange, suggested today before a senate subcommittee investigating cotton exchanges that Henry Ford and Julius Rosenwald of Sears, Roebuck and company, be called to tell how the condition of the cotton farmer of the South could be improved.

The proposal was a preliimnary to an attack on methods used by the concerns of which Ford and Rosenwald are heads. Marsh said Ford was an outstanding exponent of high wages for labor, but his buyers were "remorseless" in using every "possible expediency" to drive down the price of cotton fabrics, used by Ford's plants in large quantities.

The witness also told the subcommittee that buyers of Sears Roebuck and company, Montgomery Ward and company, and Woolworth's, who use one-fifth of the cotton goods manufactured, were the "most remorseless drivers down" of cotton prices.

He added that in an effort to meet competition of the chain stores, independent dry goods stores had organized buying syndicates with great purchasing power.

"All are combined," he said, "to throw the risk of price back on that poor devil (the cotton farmer) who cannot help himself."

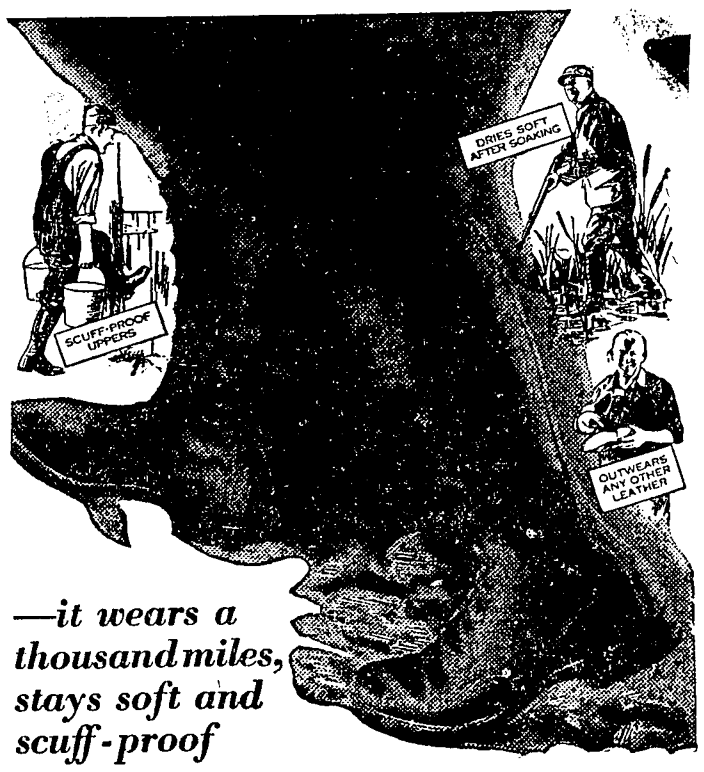
HERE'S THAT FAMOUS WOLVERINE WORK SHOE!



—it wears a thousand miles, stays soft and scuff-proof

YOU'VE probably read the advertisements about these famous Wolverine Work Shoes in your favorite farm magazine. Now we've secured a stock of Wolverines in all styles, ankle lengths to knee highs. And we invite every work shoe wearer to come in and see the perfect work shoe.

We've investigated and tested this line—and every word they say about Wolverines is true. They do dry soft after soaking and stay soft despite all weather conditions. The uppers are almost impossible to rip and tear, for the 4-ply thread is sewed deep into the surface. The uppers are also scuff-proof and stand up longer against acids than any work shoe we know. Last and equally important, Wolverines are made of Shell Cordovan Horsehide — a leather that outwears any other work shoe leather.

You'll be under no obligation if you wish to drop in and examine a pair. And once you try Wolverines, you'll never switch to any other grade of work shoe.

TWO YOUNG GIRLS SOUGHT BY POLICE AS RUM RUNNERS

LIQUOR-LADEN CAR DRIVEN BY GIRLS FIGURED IN HIGHWAY COLLISION

STRAFFORD, Pa., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Two sisters, still in tehir 'teens, were sought by police today as rum runners.

Warrants for the arrest of Marie Duttner, 19, and Violet, 17, were in the hands of Police Chief Nugent, who declared the girls had been running liquor by automobile between Philadelphia and Harrisburg. He said suspicion was directed to them when their liquor-laden car collided with another machine near here.

The girls are daughters of William Duttner, farmer near Lancaster, Pa., convicted on a liquor charge two years ago.

William A. Anderson, whose automobile figured in the collision, told authorities the two girls dumped 25 five-gallon cans of whiskey in a field and drained 20 of them before the arrival of police summoned by him. They were unable to remove the corks from the other five cans.

The girls disappeared a few minutes later in another automobile. This, the police believe, was an escort car furnshed by the bootleg ring.

HEAVY TASK AHEAD OF THE ARMS CONFERENCE

Delegates Will Meet with Hope But Recognize Wide Divergence of National Viewpoint.

1.—Background and Purposes of Conference.

This is the first of a series of five articles by Byron Price, chief of the Washington bureau of The Associated Press, on the conference at London beginning January 21 to limit naval disarmament. Mr. Price, who accompanies the American delegation, has stripped the naval strength question of its technicalities and tells plainly and understandingly what may happen.

BY BYRON PRICE
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

As the season of preparation comes to an end, every day is bringing into clearer outline the shadows of those coming events which are to make history at the naval conference of London.

It is evident now that when the delegates of the United States, Great Britain, Japan, France and Italy meet for the first time January 21, they will sit together in an atmosphere of high hope and serious purpose, yet with a full consciousness that they are in the presence of national viewpoint.

Although much has been accomplished in the pre-convention negotiations, it can be said with assurance that the sessions at London will constitute a conference in the truest sense of the word, and not a ratification meeting to present to the world a completed program worked out beforehand.

Speaking broadly, the public disclosures thus far have indicated a near approach to real agreement between the United States and Great Britain; a disagreement of some proportions between these two and France; a separate and difficult rivalry between France and Italy; and a disposition by Japan to keep aloof from these involvements but to ask for a slightly greater recognition than she has had heretofore in the naval world.

The situation will be seen to embrace much that is encouraging and much that might easily be hazardous. Taking into account the past events which always are a part of such negotiations, here is a partial pocture of the way matters stand as the delegates assemble on London:

At the Washington conference in 1921, these same five powers agreed to limit battleships and aircraft carriers according to certain ratios, with Great Britain and the United States equal and at the head of the list, and Japan not far behind.

This was the famous 5-5-3 agreement. France and Italy were given ratings well below Japan. It was agreed likewise to suspend all battleship building until 1931, but an attempt to limit cruisers, destroyers and submarines failed, primarily because of the attitude of France.

The next try was at Geneva in 1927. Only the three leaders, the United States, Great Britain and Japan, were represented.. The only result was a serious falling out between the United States and Great Britain over cruisers, and particularly over the largest type of American 10,000-ton cruisers.

At London, efforts are to be made once more to limit all types of warcraft, and to extend for another period of years the holiday in battleship building.

The principal hope of accomplishment, to judge by the public utterances of statesmen, rests on two considerations: First, that a new international atmosphere has been created by the Kellogg peace pact: second, that tht United States and Great Britain have overcome the differences of Geneva, and have agreed that the American and Britain navies, all down the line, shall be equal hereafter in fighting power.

The terms of the British invitation to the conference are broad. Almost anything relating to naval reduction might be brought into the debate. France even has suggested an agreement covering the old Franco-Italian problem in the Mediterranean—a thing quite far afield, for instance, from American naval policy.

Some subjects, such as the freedom of the seas, have been ruled out in advance, but everyone knows tht even if issues like this are not mentioned by name, every delegate will be conscious that they still are hovering nearby.

All of which means that hasty decisions at London are scarcely to be expected. Every delegation will be weighing its problems in the light of the most sweeping considerations of national policy.

Back in Corsicana To Open Business

T. C. Perry has returned to Corsicana, and has bought the hardware store of Bonds & Tarply on Commerce street where he will continue the business as heretofore. Mr. Perry has many friends in the city who will remember that he owned a hardware store in the city about two years ago and who will be glad to learn of his coming back to Corsicana. Since being away from the city Mr. Perry has visited numerous places in Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas, and says that Corsicana looked so good to him that he decided to come back and go into the hardware business again.

HIGHWAYS IMPASSABLE

TEAGUE, Jan. 16.—(SP)—Intermittent rains throughout the past ten days in this section have put the country roads and many of the highways which are neither concrete or gravel in an almost impassable condition.

Farmers have been unable to do any breaking of land for more than three weeks. Cattle are suffering much as a result of the severe weather.

London Newspaper Like MacDonald Idea

LONDON, Jan. 16.—(AP)—London morning papers today editorially raised no objections to Premier Ramsay MacDonald's idea of eventual elimination of the capital or battleship from navies of the world.

The British conservative press, however, still harped uneasily upon the question of reduction of British strength, reiterating alarm already expressed and their contention that the proposed limitation to 50 cruisers involved great danger to British security.

COX SALESFORCE ENJOYED BANQUET TUESDAY EVENING

At a banquet given the salespeople of the R. E. Cox dry goods store, in the Navarro Hotel dining room Tuesday night, Local Manager G. L. Cox gave a talk on success. Short talks on ways of bettering their service were made by the eleven present.

It is the policy of the Cox stores to give their employees banquets several times each year, where they enjoy themselves, and at the same time exchange suggestions that will be helpful to them in their work.

Those present Tuesday night were: Mmes. Ruth Weaver, Etta Handley, Louis Levy, Louis Marshall and Carrie Brown, Miss Faye Portwood, and Roland Andrews, Edgar Metcalf, and Rodney Finger. All reported a most enjoyable time.

In his talk on success, Mr. Cox said that to be successful, one must have a working interest in his or her job, and then explained that it is necessary to work to live. He declared that enthusiasm for work is needed to be successful, and a person entering any profession half-heartedly is sure to be a failure.

"Another requisite for success is service," Mr. Cox continued. He quoted Drummond as saying that the greatest thing in life is love. The speaker declared love is important, but it may be interpreted as meaning service. "If one does not render service to others he is not measuring up to the requirements of his job," the speaker asserted.

"One must work hard on a job to be successful," the manager declared. "It has been said that genius is 99 per cent hard work, and one must be on the job working all the time to be successful," Mr. Cox concluded.

PATTERN 1829

The Corsicana Daily Sun 15c Practical Pattern

By ANNE ADAMS

The little lady sketched today is extremely smart in her bolero outfit of blue serge and white linen. The sleeveless bodice is separate as it will need frequent laundrings, and the cunning pleated skirt is attached to it with bone buttons. The small packet fastens at the neck, under the collar of the blouse, and the cuffs are separate.

Design 1829 would be stunning in red kasha with white linen, in brown jersey with natural pongee or in checked tweed with linen or silk crepe bodice. Buttons should match the woolen fabric in color.

May be obtained only in sizes 4, 6, 8 and 10. Size 4 requires 1 1-4 yards wool and 1 1-8 yards 36 inch fabric for bodice.

No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model. The pattern has simple and exact instructions. Yardage is given for every size. A perfect fit is guaranteed.

Patterns will be delivered upon receipt of FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins carefully wrapped or stamps. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE wanted.

Doctors Disagree

When children are irritable and peevish, grind their teeth and sleep restlessly, have digestive pains and disturbances, lack of appetite, and have itching eyes, nose and fingers, doctors will not always agree that they are suffering from worms. Many mothers, too, will not believe that their carefully brought up children can have worms. The fact remains that these symptoms will yield, in a great majority of cases, to a few doses of White's Cream Vermifuge, the sure expellant of round and pin worms. If your child has any of these symptoms, try this harmless, old fashioned remedy, which you can get at 35c per bottle from

CROP PROSPECTS VAN ZANT COUNTY HELD TO BE GOOD

WILLS POINT, Jan. 14.—(Spl).—Continued wet and cold weather has made many farmers optimistic over 1930 crops. They say that freezing loosens the ground and continued rains wets the subsoil and stores up moisture for the dry weather in the summer. It is also claimed that snow and cold weather destroys many insects and disease germs.

B. W. Bruce, the largest single land owner in the county, says he has seen extra good crops follow both mild and hard winters. Mr. Bruce has lived in this section 55 years and in Wills Point 51 years.

He says that when he came here there were but few buildings in the town and none here now that were here then. In his early days people crossed the prairies in daytime by going to some tree or object in the distance and at night they used a star for their guide.

He cites one year so mild that cotton stalks budded out in the spring from the previous year's growth and the crop yield was unusually heavy. Other years he remembers when the winter was so hard that the loss of stock was heavy and the crop yield following was good.

He is a strong advocate of careful selection of seed and intense cultivation of the land. He regards these features as more important than winter weather.

STAND OF GOVERNOR BRINGS VICTORY IN TROUBLESOME CASE

CLOSING MEXICAN CONSULATE FOLLOWED THREATS TO ARREST CALLES

LAREDO, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Officials of the Mexican consulate, closed since December 18, were expected to return here today from San Antonio to prepare for reopening the consulate Friday. Business men were making preparations for resumption of international trade, virtually at a standstill since the threats of District Attorney John A. Valls to arrest former President Plutarco Elias Calles of Mexico on a charge of conspiracy to murder led to the closing of the consulate.

Enrique Santibanez, Mexican consul general, in San Antonio yesterday announced the ministry of foreign relations of Mexico had instructed him to reopen the consulate with Consul Rafael De La Colina in charge. This action was taken, the consul general said, when the state department of Washington assured Mexico that Mexican residents and travelers in Webb county and its county seat, Laredo, would "enjoy the guarantees granted to them by law."

Calles Gets Through.

While Calles was in the United States recently, Valls declared he would have the former president arrested should he come through Laredo, for conspiracy in the slaying of Lucio Blanco, Mexican general, whose body was found in the Rio Grande June 8, 1922. Calles was traveling on a diplomatic passport which the state department at Washington insisted should be recognized and immunity granted Calles. Calles later slipped through Laredo aboard a train running on a secret schedule.

The Laredo consulate was closed soon afterward, putting into effect a virtual embargo on goods through one of the most important border points. The Mexican governments claimed the step was taken to protect Mexican citizens, and not as a reprsal against Valls. Minor officials, however, indicated they wished Valls to resign. Gov. Moody refused to oust the district attorney after such action was advocated by business men of Laredo. The governor then opened negotiations with the United States government, which in turn took up the matter with the Mexican government.

Moody Delighted.

"Delighted!" said Gov. Moody at Austin last night when informed the consulate would be reopened. Valls refused any statement. Senators Sheppard and Connally and Representative Garner, in whose district Laredo is stuated, greeted the announcement in Washington with expressions of gratification, Garner calling attention to the fact that an embargo placed on Laredo by railroads now would be removed. Several brokerage houses here had made arrangements in the last few days to establish branch offices in other border cities, and the railroads had obtained permission from the interstate commerce commission to route freight to other points.

While the stae department at Washington refused to comment last night, official announcement was made at Mexico City that the ncident had been settled. The statement followed a note from Under-Secretary of State Joseph P. Cotton to Acting Foreign Secretary Estrada of Mexico, which expressed "unreserved disapproval" of the closing of the port.

The Mexican government announced that permission for the Laredo chamber of commerce to issue tourist passports would be renewed and said the treasury department and the National Railways of Mexico had ordered employes on the border to co-operate in restoring the situation to normal.

Fight on Valls Looms in Senate

AUSTIN, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Governor Dan Moody's action in refusing to withdraw the appointment of John Valls of Laredo as district attorney of that district may mean that the fight on the prosecutor as a result of his threat to arrest General Calles, former president of Mexico, will be renewed in the Texas senate when the legislature meets next Monday.

Governor Moody will send Valls' name to the senate for confirmation as district attorney along with the names of other recess appointees.

Senators J. W. Hornsby of Austin and Pink Parrish of Lubbock have expressed the opinion that the senate will note overwhelmingly to confirm the Valls appointment.

The senate had previously confirmed Valls' appointment to the district judgeship, an office he resigned to return to his long-time role of prosecutor. When the legislature last winter created a new district court for Webb county, Governor Moody appointed Valls to the bench, and R. L. Bobbitt district attorney. When Bobbitt resigned as district attorney to become attorney general, Valls expressed a desire to return to his former office and Governor Moody appointed him to the place.

The governor indicated from the start of the controversy over closing the consulate at Laredo that he would not accede to the demand that Valls be removed from office.

Mexican Consul to Go Laredo Thursday

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Rafael De La Colina, Mexican consul at Laredo, who has been in San Antonio for several weeks, will return to Laredo Thursday to reopen the consulate in that city on Friday.

Returning with him will be his staff of six men, including G. G. Garza Lopez, vice consul.

As nothing was removed from the Laredo consulate when it was closed on Dec. 18 by order of the Mexcan government, all that will be necessary to comply with the government's order to recpen it will be to unlock the doors Friday, Consul De La Colina said.

Clerks who will return to Laredo Thursday are Jacinto Quinjano, Julian Saenz, Francisco Cos, D. Mancha Macias and Francsco Ceniceros.

Embargo Is Lifted

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Officials of the Missouri Pacific lines today announced the lifting, effective immediately of an embargo on its line into Mexico at Laredo, Texas, as a result of announcement yesterday of the Mexican government's intention to reopen the consulate at Laredo. The embargo had been effective since Jan. 1. The railroad officials said they had been advised the consulate was reopened today.

New Orleans Cotton Quiet.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 16.—(AP)—The cotton market opened quiet, but steady. Although Liverpool came in worse than due, the market opened 1 to 2 points better and continued to improve until March reached 17.27 and May 17.51, or 4 to 5 points above yesterday's close. The market was sustained by the statement that the farm loan board intended to inaugurate a campaign in favor of reducing cototn acreage to 40,000,000 acres. Prices were steady and near the highs at the end of the first hour.

The market was characterized by dullness throughout the morning. Light offerings were absorbed by moderate trade buying and at noon March was trading at 17.25 and May at 17.48, or 1 to 3 points above yesterdays close.

New York Cotton Steady.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady unchanged to an advance of 5 points with active months showing net gains of 4 to 7 points during the early trading on covering and trade or commission house buying, promoted by reports of a better demand for cotton goods and a campaign to reduce acreage.

March sold up to 17.42 and July to 17.75, but the advance met Southern selling and realizing and the market was comparatively quiet at the end of the first half hour with prices showing reactions of 2 or 3 pointsh.

The market was quiet later, but held generally steady. Early realizing made little impression on prices, and the market worked up to 17.44 for March and 17.78 for July or about 7 to 9 points higher. The market was within a point or two of these figures at midday.

OFFICERS SEARCH FOR MAN CONNECTION THREE SLAYINGS

EDINBURG, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Officers intensified their search today for a man implicated in the slaying of three young Mexicans killed in recent rum-running activities which have taken four lives.

The body of Cipriano Ibarra was taken from the Rio Grande last Wednesday, it was learned last night, near the Rio Rico international bridge, by a searching party headed by A. Reyes, Weslaco Mexican. Reyes also headed a party which discovered the bodies of the other two victims, Salvador Bruno and Juan Gonzales, a week ago.

Manuel Zamora was arrested shortly after the discovery of bodies of the two and was charged with murder. A companion is sought. Officers reported Zamora as saying he would get even with persons for "hijacking our liquor."

Juan Gomez of Harlingen was the fourth man killed in connection with the liquor traffic. With a companion, Gomez was riding a liquor-laden truck yesterday near Brownsville. They drove off the road to avoid a stop sign erected by customs inspectors. Shots were exchanged, and Gomez fell from the truck, wounded fatally. His companion escaped into dense brush, firing a rifle as he fled.

As one of the inspectors was driving towards Brownsville a short time later, he was fired upon from the brush, but was not struck. A searching party failed to find the assailant.

The body of Jack Ashmore, aged 33 years, World War veteran, who died in the government hospital at Legion, Texas, Wednesday morning at 11:30 o'clock after a long illness, will arrive in Corsicana early Friday morning and the funeral will be held from the residence of his father, J. J. Ashmore, 1500 Woodlawn, Saturday morning at 10 o'clock with burial in Oakwood cemetery. The funeral will be conducted by Rev. Hugh Miller, Church of Christ minister, a life-long friend of the deceased.

Mr. Ashmore served with the Second Division in the World War and was gassed and wounded shortly before the Armistice. He had his hip broken when he jumped into a ditch while in action and was gassed before he had been taken to safety. He had been in the government hospital at Legion three years.

All ex-service men and Odd Fellows are urged to be on hand for the funeral. Mr. Ashmore was a member of Corsicana Lodge No. 63, I. O. O. F.

Surviving are his wife, two small children, father, J. J. Ashmore, Corsicana; two sisters, Ruby McKinley, Legion, Texas; Thelma Cherry, Corsicana; two brothers, Charles and Arthur Ashmore, both of Corpus Christi, and numerous other relatives.

The funeral will be directed by the Corley-McMahon Funeral Home.

GOVERNORS TEXAS AND OKLAHOMA WILL HOLD CONFERENCE

AUSTIN, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Governors Moody of Texas and Holloway of Oklahoma will confer here on January 24 relative to the Oklahoma-Texas boundary dispute, Governor Moody announced today.

The Texas chief executive said Gov. Holloway would be accompanied by his attorney general, J. B. King.

"We arranged the conference over telephone," Governor Moody said.

Governor Moody will be asked to submit to the legislature, which will be in session during the conference, a compact between the states under which Oklahoma would be permitted to retain 28,500 acres along the Panhandle boundary between Oklahoma and Texas, found by a commissioner appointed by the supreme court of the United States to belong to Texas, but now in Oklahoma.

The court ordered the 100th meridian fixed as the boundary and commissioned Samuel S. Gannett to establish it.

The supreme court has deferred a final decree in the litigation pending results of an effort of the two states to adjust the matter between themselves.

Since the legislature adjourned last July joint committees from the legislatures of the two states have considered the matter, and the Oklahoma contingent asked that Texas ratify a compact it submitted permitting the area to remain under Oklahoma's jurisdiction.

There are several hundred residents on the land who have heretofore been citizens of Oklahoma and some of them would be inconvenienced if title to their property were transferred to Texas, the Oklahomans claimed.

The Texas members of the joint legislative committee indicated they were opposed to permitting Oklahoma to retain the territory, but agreed to pass the proposed compact to the legislature without recommendations and let the whole body determine its action.

WOULD REMOVE DRY ENFORCEMENT FROM MELLON'S CONTROL

BILL INTRODUCED TO PUT ENFORCEMENT MACHINERY IN JUSTICE DEPARTMENT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14. (AP)—The first concrete move to carry out the recommendations of President Hoover and the law enforcement commission for a realignment of prohibition forces came today with the introduction by Chairman Williamson of the house expenditures committee of the administration bill to provide for the transfer of the dry unit from the treasury department to the department of justice.

He said hearings would be arranged on the measure soon with a view to reporting out the bill in the near future.

Williamson said his bill "is in line with the recommendation of the president."

"If enacted into law," he said in explaining the measure, "all that part of the bureau now in the treasury department having to do with the enforcement of the prohibition act, including the field service, will be transferred to the department of justice.

"The granting of permits and the administration of the internal revenue law will remain in the treasury. The attorney general, however, may exercise what amounts to a veto power in the matter of issuing permits under regulations to be prescribed jointly by the attorney general and the secretary of the treasury."

"From the very first," he said, "it was perfectly patent that the 18th amendment and the Volstead act would become a bone of bitter contention and that enforcement would be difficult.

"The department of justice is the only agency of the government that is at all equipped to deal effectively with the problem. I believe that the lodgment of enforcement in a single agency, with the resonsibility definitely fixed, will result in wholesale reforms both in personnel and methods that will put vigor and teeth into enforcement if further legislation is necessary, congress stands ready to aid."

The expenditures committee chairman said no controversy had arisen between department heads with respect to the proposed transfer.

"On the contrary," he continued, "there has all along been the fullest cooperation with a view to such chances as might be of assistance in securing the best possible enforcement of the prohibition act.

"The leaders in the house," he said, "have given assurance that the decks will be cleared so that prompt consideration may be had when the bill reaches the calendar."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14. —(AP)—A bill captioned "to reduce crime and general discontent and resentment on the part of law abiding American people against intolerable conditions" by repealing the national prohibition act was introduced today by Representative Sabath, democrat, Illinois.

Recommendations of Will Get Backing

By WALTER CHAMBLIN
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—(AP)— A nation that read with intense interest the most sweeping proposal for drying up America that has been advanced in the decade since the Eighteenth Amendment became part of the constitution today directed its eyes to capitol hill as congress moved to act upon recommendations sponsored by President Hoover.

The consensus of the membership of the house and senate was that there would be votes to spare in both chambers to provide the legislation urged by the chief executive, who just a year and a half ago in accepting the nomination to his office said he regarded prohibition as "a great social and economic experiment, noble in motive and far reaching in purpose."

First action toward carrying out the enforcement reorganization progrgam was looked for in the house. Speaker Longworth said in assigning different phases of the program to six committees he had been prompted by a desire to expedite consideration.

He explained he found the recommendations of the law enforcement commission and the phases covered in the message of transmittal by Mr. Hoover and the accompanying reports from Secretary Mellon and Attorney General Mitchell embodied subjects that could best be handled in this way.

Revision of border patrol activities looking to consoldation under the jurisdicton of the coast guard naturally would go to the ways and means committee, he asserted.

"Naturally immigration questions would go to the immigration committee," he continued. "The recommendation for the District of Columbia obviously would go to the District of Columbia committee; that for the coast guard to commerce, which for years has handled this subject; that pertaining to the courts to the judiciary committee, and the proposal for transfer of the prohibition enforcement unit from the treasury to the justice department to the committee on expenditures since it involves only an administrative change.

"These six committees have a total membership of 130 members. Thus more than one-fourth of the house membership immediately will be interested directly in acting upon the presidential recommendatons. If we had referred the proposals to a joint congressional committee, as once considered, perhaps not more than five or seven house members would have participated in the deliberations."

Mr. Longworth said he expected one of the first steps to be the transmittal of specific legislative proposals from various governmental departments to provide for the suggested administrative changes. Before nightfall Chairman Williamson of the expenditures committee was expected to introduce a resolution to authorize the transfer of the prohibition unit from the treasury to the justce departments. This measure has been discussed with interested dpartmental officials.

Under Williamson's measure, Commissioner Doran of the prohibition bureau would be retained n the treasury department as chief of a new bureau to handle industrial alcohol permits and narcotics.

Representative Garner of Texas, house Democratic leader, said today he believed Mr. Longworth had chosen the best means of expediting action, adding that the committees to which the speaker had referred the recommendations had been dealing with such questions in a different form since almost the day of the first congress.

At the senate side of the capitol the first consideration of the proposed changes was expected Monday when the judiciary committee, to which the recommendations were referred, will meet. Chairman Norris of this committee reserved comment on the recommendations.

Briefly they propose:

A ban against the entry of all persons into the United States except at points of entry designated by the president.

The transfer of the prohibition enforcement unit now headed by Commissioner Doran under the treasury department to the department of justice.

Concentration under the coast guard of all border patrol activities.

Additional judges and more federal attorneys, marshals and clerks.

Revision of padlock injunction regulations to prevent concealing the ownership of property.

Greater prison facilities and reorganization and parole and other practices.

Defining Violations.

The definition of "casual and slight volations" as: Unlawful possession, single sales in small quantities, unlawful making in small quantities, and assisting in making and transporting as a casual employe. Such violations would carry a maximum fine of not more than $500 and imprisonment of not more than six months or both.

Further, state, county and municipal officers would be authorized to seize all liquor carrying vehicles and to proceed against their operators in the nearest federal court.

Henry H. Curran, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, said it was clear the commission had concluded after eight months of study that the "problem of prohibition is not one to be solved by tinkering with enforcement procedure" and that it was clear also that the commission "believes the law as it now stands is unenforceable.

At the headquarters of the Anti-Saloon League it was said the board of directors in session at Detroit had taken the report under consideration. Although no announcement was available, it was predicted favorable reaction would be forthcoming later.

Temperance Board Pleased.

Deets Pickett, research secretary of the Methodist board of temperance, prohibition and public morals, asserted "we favor the recommendations of President Hoover as they come to us" and added he regarded the report as a "start" that might serve as an introduction for further statements.

Today, there appeared little disposition among "wets," as a whole to oppose the recommendations. Whether this attitude would continue after a more careful study of the proposed changes was a question that time alone could answer, although a number of this gropu privately expressed opinion there would be no concentrated opposition. For several years many "wet" members have advocated expending much larger sums of money for prohibition than have been provided, contending this would be one means of showing that the statute was unenforcable.

Sheppard Misses First Roll Call In Seven Years

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Senator Sheppard, of Texas, missed a roll call this week.

It is the first roll call of any kind to which the Texan has not answered in seven years in the senate. He missed seven years ago next March when he was ill.

"I was busy preparing some bills," explained Senator Sheppard, "and misjudged the time it would take me to get from my office to the senate floor. When I arrived the quorum call was completed."

HOOVER CLEARED OF IMPROPRIETY ON SUGAR TARIFF

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14. (AP)—President Hoover was absolved today by the senate lobby investigation committee of any impropriety in connection with the negotiation with Cuban and American sugar interests charged against the chief executive in testimony before that group.

Reporting to the senate, the committee asserted in addition that a "reprehensible" effort had been made to stir up Latin American antagonism against the United States by those opposing an increased tariff on sugar.

It listed the total expenditures of those for and against such an increase at more than $400,000, with $175,000 to $200,000 spent by the former and $200,000 to $225,000 by the latter.

With reference to testimony that President Hoover had sought to bring about an agreement among the sugar intersts on a sliding scale of sugar duties for incorporation in the pending tariff bill, the committee said that "in all this your committee finds no impropriety nor anything open to censure or criticism."

"It is quite likely," the report said, "that representatives of both the contending forces waited on the president to incline him favorably toward their views, respectively, and, the sliding scale solution having been proposed, he suggested that they get together in an effort to work out some plan, and in that connection informed them he would have inquiry made into the practicability of the idea by experts of the departments.

"In any event," the report added, "it appears from the testimony that he did cause such inquiry to be made. In all this your committee finds no impropriety nor anything open to censure or criticism."

Referring to the employment of Edwin P. Shattuck, New York attorney, by H. C. Lakin, president of the Cuba Company, to advocate a low sugar duty the report said:

"It is undeniable that those securing his services labored under the belief that he was an intimate friend of the president of the United States, with whom he came into contact while serving with the sugar equalization board."

Shattuck insisted throughout that he was employed solely as a lawyer.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Senator Borah of Idaho declared in the senate today that the domestic sugar industry was "doomed to extinction" if the United States continued to deal with this product from a tariff standpoint.

Borah is a leader of Republican independents and one of those inclined to favor a bounty to domestic sugar producers in place of a higher tariff. He said the sugar tariff policy of this country had placed the domestic beet and cane grower in direct competition with the greatest and potentially greatest producers in the world—Cuba and the Philippines—and that it was impossible to meet this competition.

He described the 20 per cent preferential tariff granted Cuba as equivalent to a bounty to American capitalists interested in Cuban production and asserted Philippine producton, now permitted free entry into the United States, could be expanded tremendously.

RISING WATERS DRIVE MANY FROM LOWLAND HOMES

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 14.—(AP)—Rising flood waters in Arkansas, Kentucky and Tennessee drove many families from their homes today as the rainfall of the past week continued in the lower Mississippi Valley.

Several hundred families along the White and St. Francis rivers in Arkansas have been forced to quit their homes. Farm lands have been inundated, and in some villages the water is more than two feet deep. Levees guarding valuable land and many towns in the vicinity of Big Lake are being patrolled.

In Kentucky the lower Ohio has flooded lands near Calhoun. At Hickman, Ky., the Mississippi has driven families from homes and flooded valuable lands.

Bottom lands in West Tennessee are under water, but the important Reelfoot Lake levees are believed safe. Water is standing in the streets of Fulton, Ky., and Rives, Tenn..

In other states recently threatened the rivers are falling.

More Snow Predicted.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Snow, rain and extreme cold continued today to hold the far west in the grip of a rigorous winter, but Southern California was promised relief from freezing temperatures.

Hundreds of motorists, marooned in the Sierra foothills by drifts, returned to their homes ylesterday.

Nevada, Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Northern California have been promised more snow..

Still Cold in Mountains.

DENVER, Colo., Jan. 14.—Winter's most tenacious cold wave took on new energy in the Rocky Mountain region today with the weather man offering no relief in his prediction of "continued cold and snow flurries."

Temperatures in Montana ranged from six below zero at Miles City to ten above at Kalispell.

A blizzard-like snow storm and drakness struck this section almost simultaneously last night after a day during which the mercury touched a mark of 11 degrees above zero.

Levee Dynamited

MARKS, Miss., Jan. 14.—(AP)—A huge gap was torn in the Cassidy Bayou levee, two miles south of Belen, near here, by a charge of dynamite, set off during the night by unidentified persons. Bloodhounds have been ordered here from Clarksdale to aid in a search for those responsible.

In the event of further rains, it was feared the opening, while relieving conditions in other sections, would permit water to spread over several hundred acres of land in the immediate vicinity of the break.

During the 1927 flood, the Cassidy Boyou levee was patrolled by armed guards for several weeks after attempts had been made to dynamite it.

APPROVE INCREASE IN CREDITS GIVEN WOOL MARKETERS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Approval of an application of the National Wool Marketing Corporation for supplemental credit that would enable more liberal advances to producers of wool and mohair was announced today by the farm board.

The board announced the credit advanced would be aside from that given by federal intermediate credit banks and other sources and would be extended to the grower when his wool was delivered to the regionable co-operative association.

The board also announced it had approved a contract entered into by the wool corporation with Draper & Company, Inc., of Boston, for the latter to act as exclusive agent for the corporation in the selling of all wool and mohair consigned to the corporation by its member co-operative associations.

Draper & Company's entire organization will be available to the corporation.

Contracts between the corporation and the regional co-operatives and between the regional co-operatives and individual grower members were approved by the board. It was said that from 25 to 30 per cent of the 1930 domestic clip was expected to be marketed through the corporation.

CARAWAY LABELS LOBBY ACTIVITY AS PURE "GRAFT"

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14. —(AP)—Activities of Washington lobbyists were described in the senate today as "graft" by Chairman Caraway of the senate lobby committee.

Caraway made this assertion in presenting to the senate a report of the committee's investigation into activities of sugar interests on the pending tariff bill.

"I hope that responsible business men will cease paying tribute to these lobbyists, these grafters in the District of Columbia who have nothing to sell," Caraway said.

"The whole matter is simple graft," he continued. "It's worse than that, because it plays upon the public and undermines the confidence of the American people in the integrity of their government."

BAMBINO SECOND IN HONORS WHILE ALEXANDER THIRD

JOE SEWELL RETAINS HONORS AS HARDEST MAN TO STRIKE OUT IN LOOP

BY PAUL R. MICKELSON
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

CHICAGO, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Al Simmons performed his duty as cleanup man for the Philadelphia Athletics in championship style last season, leading the circuit in the important business of batting in runs, official 1929 averages revealed today.

The Philadelphian participated in 143 games and drove in 157 of the 901 runs scored by Connie Mack's team. Thirty-four times he scored himself by home runs and came home with 80 more through assistance of his mates.

Babe Ruth, playing eight less games than Simmons, was second with 154. The Bambino tied with his Yankee teammate, Lou Gehrig, for the honor in 1928 with 142.

Average Run a Game.

Simmons and Ruth were the only two American League batsmen to drive in an average of one or more runs a game during 1929. Dale Alexander, Detroit rookie, finished third by driving in 137 runs in 155 games, while Gehrig was next, sending 126 runs across in 154 games. Other leaders and the number of runs they batted in were, Heilmann, Detroit, 120; Foxx, Philadelphia, 117; Kress, St. Louis, 107; Gehringer, Detroit, 106; Lazzeri, New York, 106, and Fonseca, Cleveland first baseman who won the American League batting championship, 103.

Best harvester of bases on balls for 1929 was Max Bishop of the Athletics. He was given 128 passes to first base in 129 games. Lu Blue of St. Louis was second with 126 bases on balls in 151 games. Gehrig got 122 free passes and Foxx worked the pitchers for 103, many of them intentional. Ruth, who has been honored for years with 100 or more free trips to first each season and who holds the record with 170, received but 72 in 135 games in 1929.

Sewell Tough Hitter.

Joe Sewell retained his title as the hardest man in the American League to strike out, tying his own world's record of four strikeouts in 152 games. "Mickey" Cochrane of the Athletics struck out but eight times in 135 games, while Sam Rice of Washington whiffed only nine times in 150 contests.

Jimmy Foxx, possessing a hit or nothing complex, was the easiest man to strikeout among the regular batsmen, churning the air 70 times, or two more than Gehrig and 10 more than Ruth.

Dykes of Philadelphia, Schang of St. Louis and Reeves of Boston were hit by pitched balls seven times each during the season. As a club, St. Louis received the most bases on balls, 583, while the Yankees struck out collectively 518 times.

Roaming the Realm of County Sports

By DELMORE OLSEN.

Basketball fans will have a busy week end watching the four contests of major importance to be reeled off on the local Y. M. C. A. court. The Triangles play the Dr. Pepper aggregation Thursday night, the Corsicana Tigers engage the Hillsboro Eagles in a pair of contests Friday and Saturday evenings, and the Corsicana Junior High school opens it's season here Friday afternoon against the South Waco Juniors.

The Triangles have been practicing earnestly for the game with the Dr. Pepper squad, and are reported to be in great condition for the fray, which opens the home season for the Triangles. Earlier in the season, the Triangles went to Athens for a game with the National School Boy champions and found out just why they were champions, being handed a neat trimming by the six-foot some odd aggregation.

The Dr. Pepper squad is really a great basketball team, if one can rely on dope for a basis of comparison, having tied the Southern Methodist University cage representatives 40-40, and defeated the Armstrong Plovers, conquerers of Baylor University early in the season.

The Bryan cagers will meet the Dr. Pepper second string players on the local court in a curtain raiser event Thursday night. The contest is due to start at 7 o'clock with the main game of the evening beginning after the conclusion of this scrap.

The Junior High school, recently admitted into the Central Texas Junior High school league, is due to open the season Friday afternoon. The South Waco Juniors, members of the league since its organization two years ago, will meet the local players in the opening game. Inclement weather conditions last Friday afternoon caused the postponement of the Central Junior High school of Temple and Corsicana Juniors game on the local court.

In a basketball game that really resembled a rough and tumble football contest, the Emhouse High school cagers defeated the State Home Lads 21-18 Wednesday night on the Y. court.

Corsicana Might Become Club In Proposed "Rookie" League

Corsicana baseball fans are awaiting some definite word from the Texas League officials concerning the proposed six club Class D baseball league in East-Central Texas and local bugs are interested. It is proposed that the Texas League sponsor a league financially and that the players, etc., belong to the clubs of the higher league.

It is expected that Joe Mathes will be in Corsicana within the next two or three weeks on his tour of inspection of a number of towns in this section from which he will make recommendations to the Texas League officials as to whether he thinks the proposed league will be possible.

Nothing definite has been heard concerning when Mathes is to be in Corsicana, and little is known of what the Texas League proposes but the newspaper reports on the proposed loop looks good.

It will be remembered that the Texas League will demand and see to it that it will be a loop for young ball players, with a low salary limit, and without the customary number of old-time, broken-down players as has been the case in the Texas Association and Lone Star League. High salaries to old players caused the disbanding of the former years, and officials of Corsicana are getting satisfaction out of the fact that the proposed league is to be patterned after what they wanted the Lone Star League to adopt, but was refused, causing the league to go defunct.

In the meantime, Corsicana fans are waiting with interest until further details concerning the proposed league are forthcoming.

Y Triangles and Hillsboro Junior College to Meet

A two game series had been arranged between the Corsicana Y. M. C. A. Triangles and Hillsboro Junior College basketball team the first to be played in Corsicana Saturday, January 25, and the final in Hillsboro February 5th, it was announced Thursday morning by C. F. Broughton, physical director of the Y. M. C. A.

Several tenative dates have been set for the two teams to meet on the painted court, but no definite arrangement could be made until Thursday, when the time and place for the two game series were announced.

Believe Famine In China Takes 4,000,000 Lives

SHANGHAI, Jan. 14.—(AP)— Unrestricted cannibalism, highways congested with bodies of famine victims, 2,000,000 dead and 2,000,000 dying were reported in stories recountered here today of the starvation and exposure that have scourged the populace of Shensi, Kansu and Shansi provinces of China.

Crops failed last year, said Missionary George Andrews, and with nothing planted, the coming year probably will be one of the worst in China's history of plagues and famine.

Andrews said he saw sufferers on many occasions carve flesh from the dead and eat it. Brought before authorities, one starving man demanded:

"Why should I be punished for eating only what dogs are eating?"

Officials have abandoned efforts to prevent cannibalism.

EMHOUSE DEFEATED ZION'S REST WITH TOP-HEAVY SCORE

The Emhouse cagers defeated Zion's Rest 34-8 Monday night on the Y. M. C. A. court with Allen, Emhouse forward, leading the scoring with eight field goals. C. Johnson, Emhouse guard, turned in a great game, and was responsible in a large part for the low score turned in by the opposition.

Teague Lions Win Over Wortham Quint

TEAGUE, Jan. 16.—(Spl).— The Teague Lions were defeated by the fast Wortham quintet Tuesday night on the Mexia gym floor in the rather one-sided score of 35 to 13. Quite a number of the Lions second string men were used during the game.

The Lions are working hard and expect to make a good showing in the first tournament Saturday toward determining the Freestone county championship in basketball.

EMHOUSE STAGES BELATED RALLY TO DEFEAT STATE HOME

Staging a determined rally in final minutes of the game, the Emhouse high school basketball team defeated the State Home Lads 21 to 18 Wednesday evening on the Y. M. C. A. court. The contest was unusually rough, and at times came close to resembling a football contest.

Earle Allverson, State Home forward, was high point man with four field goals and three free tosses. He was the only player on the State Home squad that could hit the goal with any degree of accuracy, and it was through his efforts that the State Home came close to the Emhouse team in the final quarter.

Allen, Emhouse forward, was next in scoring honors with nine points. The work of Mader, State Home, Tinkle and Payne, Emhouse, on defense featured the rough go.

Freestone Basketball Tournament Be Held At Teague Saturday

TEAGUE, Jan. 16.—(SP)— According to director of athletics, L. B. Peevy, for Freestone county, the first basketball tournament toward determining the county championship for the county will be held in Teague Saturday afternoon. Teams which are expected to participate are: Teague, Wortham, Dew, Fairfield, Streetman and Donie.

Wortham is doped to be a heavy contender for the title, having won the county championship for the past three years in succession, while Fairfield is reported to be a close second. Still if "Dame Fortune" takes a hand probably one of the other teams in the race will prove a "dark horse" come to light.

ALL PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO CORSICANA CITY CHARTER OVERWHELMINGLY DEFEATED

All of the proposed amendments to the charter of the city of Corsicana were defeated by large majorities in the special election held Tuesday. Very little interest was manifested in the propositions, and only 521 ballots were cast in the four wards.

None of the issues carried in any ward; majorities of about four to one were rolled up against the proposals to make the offices of city attorney and city tax assessor and collector appointive; while the increase in library maintenance tax and provision for the city commission to sit as a board of equalization were lost by about a three to one majority.

The returns of the election were canvassed at a special meeting of the city commission Tuesday night at 7:30. The vote by wards:

ADJUSTMENT WITH PRODUCT PRICES GIVEN AS CAUSE

HOUSTON, Jan. 15.—(AP)—A sharp reduction in posted prices of Texas crude oil was announced today by the Humble Oil and Refining company. The cuts ranged from 15 to 41 cents per barrel..

The reductions were made, the company said, to "fairly adjust" crude oil prices with prices of petroleum products.

"In spite of commendable efforts over the past year on the part of the producers to limit their crude output to the market or refinery demand, and in spite of the fact that these efforts have been conspicuously successful, an over production of crude oil exists today," the announcement read.

Coastal crude was cut 25 cents on both A and B grades. A grade will command a price of $1.05. B grade, below 25, was posted at 90 cents, with a three cent differential on each degree of gravity from 25 on through 35 and above, the latter quoted at $1.23. Mirando crude was reduced 15 cents to 75 cents; Salt Flats 20 cents to $1.05, and Darst Creek posted for the first time at $1.05.

Howard and Glasscock crude was cut 15 cents below 25 gravity, with a three cent differential on each degree through 27.9 degrees and a two cent differential on each degree from 27.9 through 36 and above, the latter posted at 82 cents; below 25 gravity was posted at 55 cents.

For Crane, Upton, Crockett, Winkler and Pecos county crudes and Lea county, New Mexico, a 15 cent reduction was made on crudes below 25 gravity, which will command 55 cents. A three cent differential prevails on all crude from 25 on through to 36 and above, the latter posted at 91 cents.

Gray county crude was cut 21 cents below 29 gravity to 69 cents, with a six cent differential from 29 through 32.9 and a three cent differential on each degree on through to 44 and above, the latter posted at $1.29, involving a 41 cent cut.

Wheeler county crude was cut 20 cents to 70 cents on below 30 gravity crude, with a six cent differential from 31 through 32.9 and a three cent differential from 32.9 to 44 and above, the latter posted at $1.24, involving a 41 cent cut.

Carson and Hutchinson county crudes were reduced 18 cents below 32 to 72 cents, with a six cent differential from 32 through 33.9 and a three cent differential from 34 through 44 and above, the latter posted at $1.14, a 41 cent cut.

Ranger, North Texas, Mexia, Powell, Boggy Creek, Richland, Wortham, Lytton Springs, Currie, Moran and Nacona crudes were cut 25 cents on crudes below 25 gravity, with a six cent differential from 25 through 32.9 and a three cent differential from 33 through 44 and above, the latter posted at $1.44, a 41 cent reduction.

FORT WORTH, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Resentment at the crude oil price cut initiated today figured in private discussion of royalty owners from all parts of Texas gathered here for the annual meeting of the Texas division, Midcontinent Royalty Owners' Association. Members charged the penalty for unfavorable winter markets is being arbitrarily charged to the producing division of the industry, whereas the fault largely lay with major refiners, who set the crude prices through buying divisions.

Texas and Gulf in Line

HOUSTON, Jan. 15.—(AP)—The Texas company and the Gulf Pipe Line company this afternoon announced they had met the sharp crude oil price cuts posted earlier in the day by the Humble Oil and Refining company.

The reductions, from 15 to 41 cents per barrel, all are retroactive to 7 a. m., today.

BONHAM MEMBER STATE COMMITTEE FOR BAN BOLTERS

AUSTIN, Jan. 15.—(AP)—R. T. Lipscomb of Bonham, member of the democratic executive senate the state democratic executive committee, favors barring as candidates from the party primary ballot those who bolted the presidential nominee in the general election of 1926, he advised the Associated Press today.

"It is my view that no person should be permitted to seek a nomination of the democratic party who was unwilling to support and did not support the nominees in the last general election," he said.

"In other words, before any man should be permitted to become a candidate for the democratic nomination to office, he should be required to have been a democrat long enough to have voted, if he was a voter at that time, for the democratic nominees in the last general election ,and if he at that time voted against the nominees of the democratic party, he should not be permitted at the next primaryl election to put himself up as a candidate of the party he deserted.

"As to whether or not they should be permitted to vote in the primary election there is some question in my mind, and it may be that the executive committee by law will be prevented from excluding the bolters from voting."

Lipscomb and 30 other members of the state executive committee will be called soon by Chairman W. A. Wilcox of Georgetown, to pass on the application for a place on the 1930 primary ballot made by Senator Thomas B. Love of Dallas, candidate for governor, who was among the bolters from former Governor Alfred E. Smith to Herbert Hoover, republican nominee, for president.

Judge Landis Will Talk With Shires

CHICAGO, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Organized baseball's first move to prohibit its players from engaging in professional boxing contests is expected Saturday when Commissioner Kenesaw Landis confers with Charles Arthur (The Great) Shires.

While Commissioner Landis has refused to discuss the question, it is known he has been displeased with the boxing ventures of Shires and other baseball players this winter and will back up his displeasure by demanding a halt.

Shires has intimated he will take the fatherly but stern advice Commissioner Landis is certain to give him Saturday and forget boxing for baseball.

Russia's Millions Learn Their A B C's

MOSCOW, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Eleven million adult Russians have been taught their A B C's in nine years, according to statistics of the "Society of Down kith Illiteracy."

In 1897 only 22 per cent of Russia's 150,000,000 people could read and write, says the Society. The latest data shows that 55 per cent of the population now knows its letters.

The Government has published A B C books in 43 languages. In the more backward regions of the Soviet Union it has introduced the Latin alphabet, which is easier for untutored persons to learn than the complicated Slav characters.

The government's "Five-Year Industrialization Plan" also extends to educational activities, and provides that by 1932 illiteracy shall be reduced to 15 per cent.
